WATCH OUT FOR WIDOWS!

Black Ones Apt to Bite You!

The Black Widow will get you if you don't watch out! If she does, send for a doctor immediately!

Thus Dr. H. K. Sutherland, county health officer, sounded a warning to Orange county people today. This is the hatching season for the Black Widow spider, regarded by some authorities as the most poisonous of insects, and the warning may prevent untold suffering for victims of its bite, he said.

Dr. Sutherland said that while the bite of the spider causes intense suffering it is not generally fatal, as people have been led to believe. The majority of fatalities have been among small children, particularly very young ones, who develop convulsions after being bitten. Medical literature, Dr. Sutherland said, has recorded less than a score of known deaths among adults, directly attributable to the bite of this spider.

Here Are Symptoms
Severe abdominal pains and nausea are the first symptoms of the bite. Muscles contract, breathing becomes difficult and the victim is covered with cold perspiration. Extreme rigidity of abdominal muscles is another symptom.

There is no home treatment for the bite of a Black Widow spider, according to Dr. Sutherland. If

Pastor, 90, to Deliver Last Sermon Tomorrow

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel."

So spoke Jesus. For 73 years, the Rev. S. R. Gittins has obeyed faithfully the Master's command.

Tomorrow morning in the Santa Ana Free Methodist church, whose pulpit he has occupied intermittently for the past 38 years, the Rev. Mr. Gittins will preach in his 90th year his last sermon.

Last night the veteran minister, whose home is now in Pasadena, was surprised by his son, Lyman S. Gittins, with a 6 o'clock dinner and an evening party given at Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Gittins' home, 1550 Wilshire street, in celebration of his 90th birthday anniversary.

The Lyman Gittins' daughters, Mrs. Francis Sherman (Viola Gittins) and Miss Lorna Gittins, assisted in serving a four-course duck dinner to the Rev. E. A. Archer, present pastor of Santa Ana Free Methodist church, and Mrs. Archer, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Warner, Mrs. N. G. Shields and the honor guest.

FULLERTON IS HOST TO C.E. CONVENTION

State - Wide Gathering Opens Today for Four-day Session

6,000 WILL ATTEND

City Officials Welcome Delegates on Their Arrival in City

By a Staff Correspondent

FULLERTON, Saturday, June 22.—Greeted at all entrances of the city by representatives of service clubs, thousands of delegates to the state-wide Christian Endeavor convention were pouring into Fullerton today in preparation for sessions in the auditorium, gymnasium, and classrooms of Fullerton Union High school.

An estimated attendance of 6,000 is expected here tomorrow. Delegates from all parts of the state will be guests of residents of Orange county tonight, Sunday and Monday nights. The convention extends through Tuesday.

The first general session of the convention is scheduled for tonight in the convention hall, with Ade May Vise, state president, presiding. Rev. Vere W. Abbey of Bangalore, India, general secretary for Christian Endeavor for India, Burma and Ceylon, will speak tonight at 8:30 o'clock on "The Christ-Centered Life—Increasing in Knowledge."

Fullerton streets were decorated today and the business district displayed many greetings to delegates.

Many of the delegates arrived by special train this afternoon and were greeted by a large group of local committeemen, headed by Dr. W. H. Wickert, general chairman of the convention.

ARIZONAN PICKED AS "MAN TO STOP ROOSEVELT"

By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
Authors Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 22.—Chief political topic among conservative leaders these days is "Who is the man who can stop Roosevelt?"

From Philadelphia's Union league to Pittsburgh's Duquesne club, and in those stretched rendezvous of success along New York's Fifth avenue—every place where business leaders gather—you will hear this question earnestly discussed.

And the name most frequently whispered among them is that of Lew Douglas, former director of the budget.

Scion of a wealthy Arizona copper family, former close adviser to Roosevelt, bitter critic of new deal policies, Lew is considered the ideal choice by many of those who would stop Roosevelt. They figure

ABDUCTOR'S WIFE CRIES ON STAND

Former Seattle Mayor Is Appointed Attorney to Defend Her

SET TRIAL MONDAY

Young Woman Insists on Declaring Self a Kidnap

TACOMA, Saturday, June 22.

(AP)—Despite Mrs. Margaret Waley's insistence that she be permitted to plead guilty to the "Lindbergh law" kidnapping of George Weyerhaeuser, Federal Judge E. E. Cushman today once more refused to accept her plea and directed the entry of a formal "not guilty" plea.

He immediately appointed John F. Dore, former Seattle mayor, as her trial attorney and set next Monday for determining the trial date.

Weeps, Whispers

The 19-year-old wife of Harmon M. Waley who yesterday was sentenced to 45 years on a guilty plea, wept and whispered to Owen P. Hughes, assistant United States attorney.

Hughes informed the court the girl wished to make a statement. Judge Cushman ruled that she could speak only through Stephen J. O'Brien, attorney.

Mr. O'Brien explained to the court that Mrs. Waley did not want to stand trial, but that he felt it was his duty to have her tried in her own best interests.

Attorney Confident
Mr. O'Brien previously had told the court that after talking with Mrs. Waley nearly an hour this morning and studying the indictment "in my opinion she could not be convicted if she went to trial."

"I have found nothing that could convict her. I think a trial would be the best thing, after talking with her husband. She was completely dominated by him and knew nothing of the kidnapping until two days after the boy was kidnapped when she heard him in the car," the attorney said.

Mrs. Waley had come into court, eyes red and puffed from weeping, and when Mr. O'Brien assured the court that she insisted on pleading guilty, despite his and her relatives' advice, she gripped the arms of her chair and burst into tears.

M'DONALD WILL COME TO U.S.

LONDON, Saturday, June 22. (AP)—The Sunday Dispatch said today former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald would leave England shortly "on an important mission" to the United States.

"It has been definitely decided" to send MacDonald to America, the newspaper said, adding: "He will discuss with President Roosevelt war debts, navies and currency stabilization."

HUEY PROMISES 'ELIMINATION'

Huey Long, Louisiana's kingfish-senator, who today wrote a 2000-word letter to President Roosevelt declaring that "my elimination from politics will follow your enactment of our share the wealth plan." Long's letter, read to the senate today, was prompted by the president's message to congress Wednesday urging a stiffer tax on the wealthy.

Controversy Looms Over Bones Found in County

They intended to preserve the relics for the public.

CITRUS MEN'S WANTS TOLD

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 22. (AP)—Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange, told California's senators today a majority of citrus growers want continued the industry's present marketing set-up.

He asked Senators Johnson and McAdoo to resist any attempt by minority groups to induce the senate agriculture committee to strike citrus fruits from the revised AAA amendments now before the committee. "Irreparable harm" would result, he said, should the attempt succeed.

Seventy-five percent of the industry favors retention of the present citrus fruits marketing agreement for California, the exchange head asserted.

'KINGFISH' IN LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT

'My Elimination Would Follow if Tax Plan Passed,' He Writes PROMISES SUPPORT
'You Can't Fight Me in Louisiana,' Says 2000-Word Message

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 22. (AP)—In a letter to President Roosevelt which was read to the senate today, Senator Huey Long asserted that "my elimination from politics would be the immediate and sure result of your enactment of the share our wealth legislation."

Promising "every atom of support and strength" for a redistribution of wealth program, Mr. Long asked how far the chief executive would go on the Louisiana's "share the wealth" proposal.

Senator Long's "share the wealth" plan would levy a capital tax of 1 per cent on fortunes of $1,000,000 graduated up to 99 per cent on more than $8,000,000. His pension plan would give about $30 a month to all over 60 years of age with income of less than $500 a year and resources of less than $3000.

At the outset of his letter, Senator Long said the president's tax program was "nothing new, for such was your promise prior to your nomination and election, and even after your inauguration."

After referring to his "elimination from politics," Senator Long said: "You would thereby have another complete case for the pub- (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

FIVE SHOTS FOR PEEPER!

Shooter Says Scored a Hit

Residents in the 900 block on East First street were brought hurriedly to their windows last night by the sound of shots in the street, and officers called by Melvin Condra to his home at 911 1/2 East First, learned that Mr. Condra had fired five shots from a 12-gauge shotgun at a fleeing Peeping Tom.

Mr. Condra told officers that at 9:30 p. m. he noticed a man standing by a tree in his back yard. When he went into the yard with his gun, the man started around the opposite side of the house. Mr. Condra followed, and saw him behind a telephone pole on the opposite side of the street.

As the man started to run again, Mr. Condra told officers he shouted at him to stop, and then began chasing him. When they reached a point between First and Walnut, Mr. Condra shot four times at the fleeing man.

He told officers the man yelled at each shot, and that he climbed over a wire fence at the Southern Counties Gas Company tank yard. At that point, Mr. Condra fired his parting shot.

He said he was convinced he had scored at least one hit.

OFFICERS PATROL EUREKA STREETS TO PREVENT NEW OUTBREAK

TWO, WOUNDED IN RIOT, ARE NEAR DEATH

66 Held Under Assault Charges Following Fight Yesterday

EUREKA, Calif., Saturday, June 22. (P)—Armed police officers patrolled Eureka's streets today to prevent any further outbreak of the lumber strike rioting which resulted in the death of one man and the probable fatal shooting of two others by police guns yesterday.

W. H. Kaarte, 42, Eureka, was pronounced dead when he was taken to the Eureka general hospital after the pitched battle yesterday morning between 250 strike pickets and 300 workers on the Holmes-Eureka lumber mill, which ended only when police brought their riot and tear gas guns into use.

Little hope was held for the recovery of Harold Edlund, 35, shot in the abdomen and Paul Lampella, 21, shot in the head. Sixty-six persons were held in jail under charges of rioting and assault with deadly weapons.

One Woman Injured
Ten persons in all suffered wounds of varying degrees from the police gunfire, and five policemen and ten other civilians were also injured in various ways. One of those was a woman, Mrs. Jerine Kinnire, 33, who was gassed and bruised.

Police Chief George Littlefield declared the situation was well in hand today and said that the lumber strike conditions would be cleared. It was reported longshoremen, who have been on a sympathy strike, would return to work Monday.

Police made a general cleanup of "Jungletown," which they burned. Many hangers-on there were ordered to leave the city, and 40 itinerants aboard a freight train were refused permission to alight. The rioting yesterday morning started, Littlefield said, when Special Officer James O'Neill was attacked by pickets when he reported for patrol duty at the mill.

GROWERS WILL INCORPORATE

Articles of incorporation for the Orange County Vegetable Growers association will be filed next week by Col. M. B. Wellington, attorney for the organization.

This action was decided upon last night by vegetable growers meeting in the farm bureau offices here, when they approved the plan for forming such an association. Articles of incorporation and by-laws submitted by a special committee headed by Clarence Brown of San Juan Capistrano were approved last night.

Blair Mitchell of Irvine presided at the session. The association will be formed to aid in stabilizing the vegetable market and assuring growers of an adequate return. Similar organizations are being formed in other counties and it is expected that the various groups will act together in furthering their aims.

MORE ABOUT FLIERS

Southern California, burst into flames at an altitude of 3,000 feet. A spark from the motor on the left wing ignited the fuselage.

Pilot Is Hero
Within the space of a few seconds the fire had spread over the entire wing. Sergeant R. Giles, sitting near the pilot, Cadet F. H. McDuff, detected the flames, and warned Capt. R. I. Dugan, who was in the observer's cockpit just behind the propeller.

The flames had made such headway that Cadet McDuff advised Sergeant Giles to bail out. With Giles overhead, the cadet pilot gamely stayed with the controls while his captain made his way back through the underpassage to the pilot's seat.

Capt. Dugan was unable to leave the plane from the observation post because of its proximity to the whirling propeller.

With the motor cut off, McDuff frantically worked with his ailerons and stabilizers to slow as much as possible the swift descent of the big observation plane to the ground.

Almost Too Late

As Capt. Dugan reached the cockpit and leaped over, McDuff left the controls and the plane went into its final dizzy pitch. There was no further time for delay. A forest lookout, watching the spectacular drama from his post at Barton lake, saw McDuff bolt downward besides the plane. The cadet was only a few hundred feet from the ground when he took to his parachute.

The chute did not open until McDuff was 300 feet above the ground, but he was able to make a safe landing.

Capt. Dugan was lavish in his praise of the cadet pilot. "At the risk of his life, he saved mine," said Capt. Dugan. "He stayed at the controls until I had made my way to the rear and jumped overboard."

lie's admiration, which, cited in contrast with my support of your cause and policies, might give you a measure of added prestige — I assure you that I would none the less welcome the general and full result."

How About Louisiana
Senator Schwelienback, (D., Wash.), a leader of the "freshmen" group opposing Senator Long's attacks on the administration, demanded why Long, with the "dictatorial" powers he had boasted of, had not redistributed wealth in his own state by taking big fortunes.

"There are no big fortunes in Louisiana," Long declared. The chief executive was told he had failed so far to keep his campaign promises for redistributing wealth and had used administration influence to defeat proposals in that direction.

Await F. D. R. Word
Long addressed the senate while democratic leaders on Capitol Hill awaited word from President Roosevelt as to whether he wanted his wealth tax program enacted this session.

Many thought it should be deferred until next session, as extended study should be required. The President advocated higher taxes on the rich.

Long's letter to the president was 2,000 words long. He distributed copies of it to the press after sending it to the White House.

'Can't Oppose Me'

"You can leave the spoils of war in the hands of those who undertook to prevent your successful campaign," he wrote, "you can continue to oppose me in the Louisiana political arena with all the weapons and sinews which your public treasury now affords to my enemies; none the less, if you will redistribute the wealth of the United States so that every man and his family shall rest in a home owned by them, free of debt; so that each child shall have the right to complete education and training; so that there will be employment and earnings sufficient to guarantee a respectable comfort to all families; so that those who have passed beyond the reasonable age of labor are given a fair pension by the government, (supporting these things by decentralizing wealth and breaking up the concentrated fortunes for which you declare), then every atom of support and strength which I may have is at your beck and call, and loud will be my praises for the good which you may do to this country even though it be for the keeping of a promise now extremely long standing, which was made to effect the last nomination and election."

Long said the president was being credited with "having taken over the share-our-wealth movement," and that as a result "the wind has swept from my sails by your pronouncement."

"I hope such is true," the senator added. "Therefore, so that all may know, so that the congress may not further quibble, will you make known just what your stand is on the following principles of the share our wealth undertaking, viz.:

"1. Do you wish the congress to limit the amount of wealth one man should be permitted to own, and what is the outside limit you would set?"

"2. Do you wish congress to provide for such redistribution of wealth as will give to every family a homestead where they may have the fair comforts of life up to not less than one-

POULTRY PALACE IS OUT! Solons Oust Fowl House Plan

Now that the dust has cleared away from the recent legislative storm at Sacramento, it has been revealed that the state solons repealed a regulation which required that poultry owners house their fowls in virtual palaces.

Since the chickens had not yet heard about their luxurious privileges, there was no cackling lobby at Sacramento to prevent repeal of the poultry palace regulations.

The unusual situation was brought to light today by Roland D. Flaherty, farm bureau secretary, who yesterday attended a meeting of the seven southern counties poultry department of the farm bureau at San Diego. When strict laws were passed after the 1933 earthquake, to insure safety of structures built in cities, the new rule was a more or less sweeping affair, and it was found that if anyone wanted to build a chicken house, he had to erect it in accordance with these rigorous specifications.

Poultrymen think a lot of their chickens, but they thought it was going a little too far to be asked to house them in reinforced concrete palaces. So the legislature gave them relief, it was reported yesterday at San Diego.

OIL PRODUCTION CUT IS URGED

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, June 22. (P)—Threatened with a possible collapse of the crude oil price structure, independent oil operators in Southern California today considered a plea to curtail production.

J. R. Pemberton, state oil umpire, called on some 200 operators at a meeting in Long Beach last night to cut down production or face what he termed serious consequences in the industry.

Production in the state has jumped from the daily 512,000 barrel quota allowed under the old prorate agreement in effect before the supreme court NRA decision to 590,000 barrels a day, Pemberton declared.

ACTION TO FORCE SAN CLEMENTE RECALL ELECTION IS PLANNED

Proponents of the movement to recall Mayor A. T. Smith at San Clemente will launch mandamus action in the immediate future to compel the city council to call a recall election, according to information secured by The Journal today.

Definite plans for this move followed last night's city council meeting at which a tie vote resulted on a proposal to set the election for July 30.

Ridley Smith, Santa Ana attorney, has been retained by supporters of the recall project. He said today that while he has not had a chance to examine completely the proceedings of the council last night, he is of the opinion that, if the petitions were presented as sufficient, and the council did not call the election, they can be forced to do so by court action. If the council failed to act on a sufficient petition, Mr. Smith said he has been authorized by his clients to start court proceedings.

Rule on Petitions
The petitions, containing 71 names, had been sent to the council by City Clerk William Holmes, with a certificate of sufficiency appended. With the petitions, Mr. Holmes sent a letter in which he explained that 25 of the signatures on the documents did not comply with the law requiring street names and numbers to be affixed by the signers.

Mr. Holmes had asked for a ruling by City Attorney Ben Acres as to sufficiency of the petitions, and last night Mr. Acres told the council he was of the opinion the petitions are not sufficient.

However, the council took jurisdiction over the documents and voted on the question of calling an election. Mayor Smith and Councilman Monroe Thurman voted against setting an election date, while Councilmen Earl von Bon Horst and Henry Fate voted in favor of the move. Councilman David Kinney was absent at Burlington.

Mandamus Looms
It is understood that in view of last night's action, mandamus proceedings might be directed against the entire council, as well as against the city clerk, but no definite decision has been made. There has been some contention that the clerk's certificate of sufficiency does not comply with the law.

The certificate pointed out that there were 71 names on the petitions, five of which were patently invalid for various reasons. There were 66 signatures of qualified voters, but the accompanying letter explained that 25 of these were not followed by street names written by the signers. These names apparently had been filled in by another party, it was claimed. The law requires 60 valid names on the petition. It also is asserted, by recall proponents, that of the petition is sufficient, the council has no choice but to call an election.

The recall movement was brought to light several weeks ago when Mayor Smith dismissed councilman Von Bon Horst as police commissioner. Friends of the recall accused the mayor of being dictatorial and extravagant. His supporters claim he has carried on a business-like administration for the benefit of the taxpayers.

PARENT-BOARD MEET FAILS

The scheduled conference between the Oceanview school board, a committee representing parents of students in the school and District Attorney S. B. Kaufman failed today when members of the school board failed to appear. The conference had been scheduled in an effort to ward off further demands for a grand jury investigation into affairs of the school.

The parents' committee headed by R. A. Ross, rancher in the Oceanview district, was present, and with them several students in the eighth grade to verify charges that salacious literature and obscene pictures had been circulated in the schoolroom with the knowledge of Manville Saxton, teacher. According to Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, Vernon Hill, one member of the board, notified him this morning that the meeting had been postponed until July 6 due to the absence of Conrad Worthy and T. J. Holt, other members of the board. Members of the parents' committee had not been notified of the postponement.

When members of the school board failed to appear, Mr. Ross went into conference with District Attorney Kaufman and was closeted with him for more than an hour.

STATIC IGNITES ETHER, 3 HURT

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, June 22. (P)—Three persons were slightly burned today when ether being used during an operation apparently was ignited by a static spark and exploded.

Dr. W. A. Boyce was operating on the eyes of 6-year-old Robert Stephenson when the tube slipped off the ether jar. The explosion followed, slightly burning the patient, Dr. J. R. Hughes, anesthetist, and a nurse. The operation continued.

Scanning New Books

By JOHN SELBY

A two-volume set of books entitled "God's Soldier" is enough to set anybody pondering. Any two-volume set of anything is, these days.

But the truth is that this particular work is worth almost anybody's time. St. John Ervine has over-written the story of the Booths, perhaps, but one must admit that the story presents a temptation.

Probably the second of the two volumes is most interesting, if only because it contains the story of a dramatic disintegration, equally dramatic incidents, and a good deal about the only Booth the author does not unduly revere. This is Evangeline.

There is much color in this volume, too. There is the amazing story of Smith-Piggott, whose career led from the Anglican church through the Salvation Army to the directorship of his own sect and the production of three children named (actually) Power, Glory and Hallelujah.

Another is the story of Eva Booth's hurried journey from Canada to the convention at which Ballington Booth was attempting to seduce the American branch of the army away from the suzerainty of Bramwell, his brother and head of it all. Eva found the door locked, but was not chilled. She found an open window, appeared dramatically on the stage, and stopped the secession.

Thumbnail Reviews

"Time: The Present," by Tess Slesinger: the author of "The Unpossessed," which stirred the susceptible New York literary public and left the country untouched, writes some tart little short stories; Miss Slesinger is the kind of writer the New York literary clique just loves.

"Love and the Lieutenant," by Robert W. Chambers: another of Mr. Chambers' historical romances: time the Revolution; setting Germany and America; girl a lovely American posing as German nobility; man, swaggar Captain Seadrift of the British forces.

"Harvest," by Selma Lagerlof: gleanings from Lagerlof's manifold cabinet; stories and legends about the Varmland, and even four addresses made by the author.

Boston—Beacon Hill. "The Kings of Beacon Hill," by Christine Whiting Parmenter: a family novel, really a two-family novel, of Beacon Hill; many characters, many very well drawn, dialogue a little stuffy on occasion.

"The Pascarella Family," by Franz Werfel: a re-issue of one of Werfel's best novels; the story of a Neapolitan domestic tyrant, his six subject children, and how the world gradually crept in and destroyed the father's hold.

Meet Your Neighbor

The Journal's compilation of "Orange County People You Should Know."

Name: Wm. C. Jerome.

Occupation: County supervisor.

When and where were you born? Los Angeles.

When did you come to Santa Ana? 1911.

What induced you to come? Educational facilities for children.

What is the earliest event in your life that you can remember? Seeing Mexican with ox-cart hauling stove wood.

Where were you educated? Tustin and Santa Ana.

What are your favorite sports? Football.

What one thing does Santa Ana need most? A more definite realization of her advantages and possibilities.

Whom do you consider the most useful living person? He who best serves his fellow man.

What book or reading has helped you most in attaining success? McGuffey's reader.

How many children have you? Four.

One-sentence interview: When our ethical and religious education measure up to our mechanical ability we will solve the problems of living decently.

Happy Birthday

VISIT OF READ $35,445 HOME

SEEN AS U.S.

C. C. MOVE

Presence here yesterday of Leonard Read, western manager for the United States Chamber of Commerce with headquarters in San Francisco, stirred speculation on a possible movement to bring the local chamber back into the national organization, from which it withdrew several months ago.

Mr. Read's visit also recalled an address which he delivered at a chamber of commerce meeting here last November, at which he criticized programs and policies of President Roosevelt. It was this speech which was credited with precipitating the local chamber's decision to withdraw from the national body, a move which had been under consideration prior to the talk.

It is understood that Mr. Read yesterday conferred with local business men in an attempt to feel out local sentiment on the question of rejoining the United States Chamber of Commerce. He also called upon Edward J. Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana chamber, although the matter of returning to the national body was not discussed by them, according to Mr. Wood.

Talk Was Factor

Although the local booster body withdrew from the national chamber subsequent to Mr. Read's talk, the address was only the factor which brought the matter to a head, rather than the sole cause of the action.

The Santa Ana chamber has followed a policy of preserving its freedom to express its own opinions and make its own commitments on all matters. It was felt by the board of directors that the chamber should not be a member of any other organization which might appear to speak for it. The local chamber belongs to no other organization.

Following Mr. Read's address here, the United States Chamber of Commerce was asked by the local board if Mr. Read had any authority to speak for the national body on political matters such as that discussed in his talk. According to Mr. Wood, a reply was received from Mr. Skinner, secretary of the United States chamber, to the effect that Mr. Read had been speaking only on his own behalf at the local meeting.

Back Next Month

Yesterday Mr. Read met William Dunkerly, president of the state Association of Chamber of Commerce Secretaries, and Lloyd Myers, of the Glendale chamber of commerce, at the local chamber. The trio went to San Diego for today's annual meeting of association of Southern California boosters or body secretaries, at which new officers will be elected.

It is understood that Mr. Read will be in Santa Ana again next month, when the matter of rejoining the national body may be a subject of discussion again.

Announcement was made today by Wayne Harrison, new president of the Santa Ana chamber, that installation of officers will take place Tuesday night, when the club meets to honor past presidents of the organization.

At a meeting held last night at the Twenty Ranch Gun club, the new officers selected their committees for the ensuing year. The appointments made by President Harrison, are as follows: Program committee, Dick Ewert and George Hayden; song leader, Herbert Hill; membership, John Knox, Dr. Herbert Stroehlein, Paul Beckman and Leland Finley; greeting, Ernie Stump; Bill Mills, and Mickie Walker; project, Dr. Stanley Norton; Clyde Hill, George Bradley, Harvey Bear and Dean Miller; publicity, Fred Lamping and Dr. Arthur Wade; past parties, Howard McVain, Les Steffensen and Frank Lewis.

Other committees appointed were: Athletics, LeRoy Burns, Mickie Walker, Bob Schilling, Perry Davis and Newell Vandermaat; Boy Scouts, Ed Clark, Carl Shoop, and Rhodes Finley; finance, John Newman, Glen Mathis, and Lyman Farrell; sick, Wylie Carlyle; fellowship, Clarence Sprague, Lawrence Mitchell and Kenneth Maxwell.

The new officers recently elected to serve for the six-months period beginning July 1, are Mr. Harrison, president; Dick Ewert, first vice president; Dr. Norford, second vice president; Newell Vandermaat, sergeant-at-arms, the secretary and treasurer of the club were appointed in January to serve for terms of one year. They are John Lutz and Lee Hasenjaeger.

SANTA ANANS GO TO CONFERENCE

Featured for Santa Anans by the reelection of Mrs. H. C. Chapman to the post of recording secretary, the Southern California Conference of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist churches concluded its two-day session yesterday at the Methodist church in Whittier.

Delegates who attended yesterday from here were Miss Blanche Collings, Mrs. Dora Demerest, Mrs. Laura Leonard, Mrs. H. W. Guthrie, Mrs. M. M. Lane, Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, and Mrs. Emma Carhart. Mrs. Collings attended both days of the conference in her official capacity.

Future construction and home repair business estimated at $135,445 was discovered during the past week by workers in the Orange County Better Housing survey, according to Mrs. Zilda Oxtart, supervisor. This is in addition to approximately $97,000 of such business found last week.

Workers in the survey have been making many contacts with owners of vacant lots, and during the past week found 33 prospects interested in loans for building new homes.

454 Are Contacted

During the past week the survey contacted 454 persons and netted a total of 76 prospects, of which 43 were for renovating homes or purchasing permanent home equipment. The 33 prospects for new homes were found in calls on owners of 78 vacant lots.

Since the survey started, workers have made 2,222 calls in Santa Ana and have found 563 prospects.

Loan Assistant Here

J. E. Hoblit, who has been accepting loan applications at the chamber of commerce, has been extremely busy, Mrs. Oxtart said. Hereafter an assistant will be on hand each day.

The better housing survey is conducted in connection with the Federal Housing Administration program for extending loans to persons interested in new construction, renovating, or refinancing old construction.

FRANK EY TELLS SIDE IN CASE

Following the issuance of a court order late Wednesday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames directing Frank Ey Jr., son of a former Santa Ana mayor, to pay his wife, Mrs. Mary Ey, $200 monthly pending hearing of her suit for separate maintenance, Mr. Ey today issued a signed statement in answer to charges brought by his wife.

In answer to my wife's action for separate maintenance, I set forth that I have abundantly and luxuriously provided for my family; that I sometimes alone, and sometimes freely and voluntarily accompanied by my wife and two

Conferences at 9:30
From 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. conferences will be held for intermediates and senior intermediates in the high school auditorium, for young people in the convention hall and gymnasiums and general conferences for older groups and executives in the administration and science buildings and the school choral hall.

Andrew Stewart of Redwood City will preside at the convention sermon hour beginning at 11 a. m. Melburn Matheny will be leader, Miss Myrtle Klahn of Fullerton organist, and Dr. Royal J. Dye of Indianapolis, will offer the address on "The Christ-Centered Life—Being Fruitful in Every Good Work."

Afternoon Session
Sunday afternoon intermediate and senior intermediate sessions will be held in the high school auditorium with Miss Emma Ruth, state intermediate superintendent, presiding, and the young people's session will be in the convention hall with Andrew Stewart presiding.

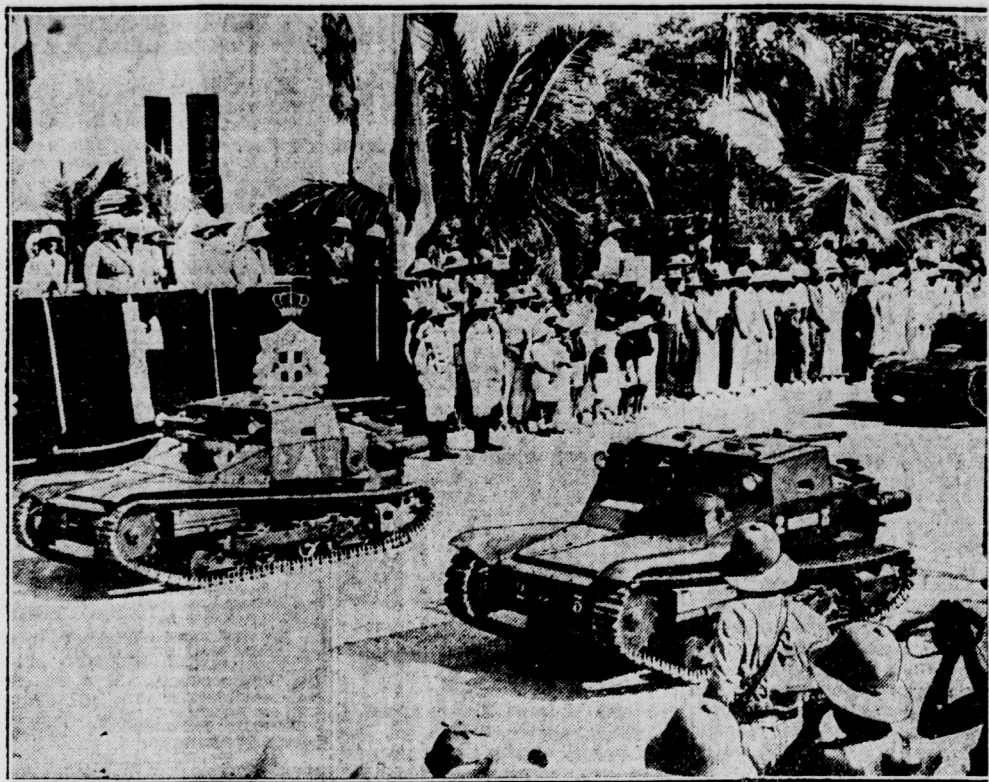

Delegation meetings for county and district unions will be held from 5:30 to 6 p. m.

Monday's Program
Monday's meetings will open at 8:45 a. m. with the intermediate department meeting in the school music hall. G. Maurice Cellar will preside and Rev. Aldis L. Webb will lead the Bible study. The senior intermediates will meet for quiet hour and Bible study sessions in the school auditorium, with Cecil A. Jeffrey presiding, and Rev. Harland E. Hogue leading Bible study.

The young people's department will meet in the north section of the convention hall. Melburn Matheny will preside and Rev. M. G. Papazian will lead in Bible study. Conferences for intermediates and senior intermediates will follow the opening sessions.

General conferences will open at 9:40 a. m. in high school rooms at the Baptist church and Ebel club. The morning general convention session will open at 10:40 a. m. with Miss Ada May Visek, state president, presiding. Dr. Luther E. Stein, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Fresno, will give the address, his topic "My Body Christ-Centered."

ITALY'S IRON HORSES IN AFRICA

HARBOR TRIP TO FEATURE MEET

COSTA MESA, Saturday, June 22.—Putting Orange county over at the San Diego exposition by means of a unified publicity campaign will be the problem discussed at the monthly meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county to be held in the Costa Mesa Women's clubrooms at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday. Charles Harworth of the All-Year club of Southern California, will be the speaker, and will urge members to advertise Orange county extensively at San Diego, according to Dr. C. G. Huston, vice president of the civic group, in charge of preparations.

A boat ride around Newport harbor has been arranged by Dr. Huston. The ships will leave the landing dock at The Arch at 5 o'clock, and will visit all parts of the bay. Progress on the $1,835,000 harbor improvement program will be pointed out.

Advance reservations indicate that the largest gathering in several years will be present Tuesday. It was announced by Dr. Huston that the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon club will serve the dinner.

FOUR FINED IN ORANGE COURT

ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—Four men were fined $10 each by Justice of the Peace A. W. Swayze yesterday, three of them for smoking in forest reserves or restricted areas and one of them for trespassing on private property at Irvine park.

W. F. Norton and W. T. Chipier, both of Long Beach, were fined for smoking in a national forest reserve. E. B. Colbert was fined for smoking in a restricted area; and A. Z. Shelley of Santa Ana was arrested for trespassing.

PASTOR TO MAKE SURVEY OF MISSIONS

ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—Following the regular morning service tomorrow, Rev. A. G. Webb, pastor of the Emmanuel Ev. Lutheran church and secretary of the mission board of Southern California, will leave on a trip to Imperial valley accompanied by E. T. Pingle.

The purpose of the trip is to make a mission survey. On his way to the valley, Rev. Webb will take charge of the evening church service at the Emmanuel Ev. Lutheran church at El Centro.

NEW BEACH THEATER OPENS WEDNESDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Opening of the new $40,000 Laguna Beach Lynne theater is scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 26, announced Fred and Lynne Aufdenkamp, owners and managers.

Directors at the First Methodist church.

A "Singspiration" will be held Monday afternoon from 3:45 to 4:30 with Howard L. Brown leading and Miss Bertha Palmer as pianist. At 5:15 p. m. Arch Raitt, north Orange county Y. M. C. A. secretary, will officiate at a barbecue on the north athletic field at the school. Also at 5:15 a veterans' banquet for county and state officers and for those who have been in the organization for 15 years or more will be held in the high school cafeteria.

Monday evening's general convention session will be held in the convention hall, with all county presidents honored. Miss Ada May Visek will preside, and Rev. Jesse H. Baird, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Oakland, will speak on "The Christ-Centered Life—In Harmony With Him."

HE KNEW HIS JAIL JOB

FULLERTON, Saturday, June 22.—Art McMillan, registered at the Fullerton police department as "anywhere and nowhere," fooled members of the department yesterday.

Sergt. John Gregory reports that McMillan had been arrested on numerous occasions previous to yesterday and had always been required to sweep out and scrub the jail as part of his sentence.

Yesterday McMillan anticipated action of the local police, according to Gregory, when he appeared in Fullerton and went directly to the jail and started scrubbing floors.

Later he appeared before City Judge Halsey I. Spence and was given a "floater" out of town.

ORANGE COUPLE RALLY STAGED BY EPWORTH

ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—On Thursday evening, Miss Lydia Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. King, East Chapman avenue, became the bride of Carl E. Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Schroeder, South Grand street, at St. John's Lutheran church.

The maid of honor was Miss Malinda Walker, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Marie Peters, Miss Irene Schroeder, Miss Ruth Schroeder and Miss Lenore Peters. Little Joan Walker, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Charles Walker, ring bearer. Ushers were Jack Witherspoon, Hollywood; R. E. Kenneth Ahl, Theodore Walker and Adolph Bosch.

The church organist, E. E. Wunderlich, played incidental music, and for Miss Clara Fitch who sang "The Day of Golden Promise," and during the ceremony, "Oh Perfect Love." Harry D. Stock, served as best man, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Schroeder, Ramona Park, Mo., brother of the groom.

A reception followed in Walker Memorial hall, a gift of the bride's mother, several years ago. Following this the couple left on a trip, the destination unknown. They will make their home in Orange.

The bride graduated from St. John's school, Orange High school and attended Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind., and is a member of Alpha Phi Delta sorority. The groom graduated from Concordia college, St. Paul, Minn. He is a member of Los Caballeros, and is secretary of the Orange Mortgage corporation.

BUENA PARK BRIDGE CLUB ENTERTAINED
BUENA PARK, Saturday, June 22.—Mrs. H. Riddleberger was hostess to her bridge club one afternoon this week. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Erma Grabeau, Mrs. Patsy Weaver, Mrs. Willa Canfield and a special prize to Mrs. Roy Caplinger who is leaving for Imperial Valley. Other guests present were Mesdames Dorothy Moffett, Betty Scofield, Opal Hillman, Pauline Henderson, Ester Looney, Edna Baumstark, George Pierce and the hostess, Mrs. H. Riddleberger.

Mrs. C. W. Perry, who has been paying an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Roy Caplinger, has left for San Pedro where her husband, an officer, is stationed on the battleship U. S. Portland.

Miss Evelyn Bezona of West Eleventh street, secretary at the Grand Avenue public school, has returned to her home from visiting friends in Los Angeles.

Y. M. C. A. TO BE OPEN EVENINGS NOW
ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—It was announced that the Y. M. C. A. building would remain open evenings during the summer, except week-ends, from 6 to 9 o'clock. B. Stimpel will be in charge of the gymnasium and any reservations by persons wishing to use the "Y" building during those hours can be made with him.

BRIGHT CITRUS OUTLOOK SEEN

LA HABRA, Saturday, June 22.—Sounding an optimistic note for next year's citrus operations, T. H. Powell, general sales manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange, addressed the annual meeting of the boards of directors and managers of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange in the Women's clubhouse Thursday night.

Mr. Powell stressed the need of cooperation of all growers in handling surplus fruit this year, and those attending the meeting later voted to go on record endorsing a movement in the direction of an elimination program.

That better conditions in the lemon market will be found with warmer weather in eastern cities was also indicated by the speaker. He said orange growers will receive much benefit from the California-Arizona Citrus Marketing agreement, which, through curtailing movement of fruit at present, will materially aid in stimulating the eastern market.

Fred Heydenfeldt, manager of the growers' service department of the exchange, explained operation of the state prorate act and the surplus control plan of the California Farm Bureau federation.

LAGUNA BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—The organizing of a junior chamber of commerce in Laguna Beach was definitely today with the announcement that application for membership in the national chapter has been sent to Washington, D. C.

The older chamber of commerce presented the new organization with the necessary letter stating that each were working together and not as two opposing factions. Since the last meeting, several more young men have expressed desire to join the chamber and a drive for memberships will begin next week with the meeting Tuesday evening.

BIBLE CLASS HAS LUNCHEON AT ORANGE

ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—The Dorcas Bible class of the Methodist church had a luncheon meeting at the Epworth hall Friday. A talk was given by the teacher, Mrs. J. E. Parks, while members sewed. Those present were Mrs. Emma Simmons, Mrs. Jennie Archibald, Mrs. Alice Evans, Mrs. Sara Downs, Wanda Thompson and Evelyn Rollins sang vocal trio numbers, accompanied by Miss Nelson.

"The Color Line" one-act play, was presented under the direction of Miss Harriet Abrams, Santa Ana junior college graduate. The cast included: Eleanor Brooks, Dr. Lawson, Jack Wilson, Harriet Abrams, Evelyn Rollins and Stanley Preston.

ARLENS AT NEWPORT
NEWPORT BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arlen (Jobyna Ralston) arrived here yesterday afternoon for a week-end visit at the Newport Harbor Yacht club. They came in their 50-foot power boat "Jobyna."

'COCO' TAKES TO TREES

LAGUNA BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Leon Wilson, young Los Angeles student, had a sad introduction to Laguna Beach this week. Leon arrived to register in the Marine Laboratory for summer school and brought with him his pet monkey.

"Coco," the monkey, seemed to like his new surroundings until Thursday when he skipped out of the laboratory and ran away. He was seen later investigating the wonders of the engine in a car on Cliff Drive. In vain did Leon try to coax him back.

Glimpses of "Coco" swinging from branch to branch of Laguna's tall eucalyptus trees are all Leon has seen of his pet for the past two days. Now and then residents catch a bit of a squeak high up in a tree but one glance or call, and "Coco" is off.

"I certainly miss him," says Leon, "but my only hope is to just leave him alone and wait until he gets into somebody's car. You see he used to sleep in an automobile so he rather likes them."

JUNIOR ENDEAVOR GROUP ALSO HAVING FULLERTON SESSION will be held at the Baptist church, with meetings for both superintendents and the young people.

Miss McCullough will preside at a general session at 1 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Will Fritchard will speak on "Serving Jesus Through Bible Study," and conferences will be held for juniors and their superintendents. A junior superintendents' luncheon will be held Tuesday noon at the Presbyterian church and another general session at the high school at 2:30 p. m.

PLANT BLOOMS AT NIGHT

Balboa Man Has Rare Cereus

Each flower blooms one night only and then dies. The blossom measures fully eight inches in diameter and is composed of cream colored petals and a striking center of yellow feelers. Nearly a dozen more buds are in various stages of development and may blossom soon. June is the only month in which the flowers come out.

Three vertical stalks, two inches in diameter, and measuring two, five, and six feet in height bear the blossoms.

It is a member of the cactus family and is native to Mazatlan, Mexico. The plant has been adopted in the Hawaiian islands, where Mr. Leonard procured his specimen while teaching school.

CROSSING PLAN DELEGATES FOR ABOUT READY

NEWPORT BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Plans and specifications for the proposed construction of the $190,000 Brannigan crossing project at the intersection of the Coast highway and Newport boulevard are nearing completion, according to a letter today to Harry Welch, secretary of the chamber of commerce, from C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer.

The local city council urged immediate action on the project at their last meeting, citing that several people had been killed at the corner.

Funds for the project already have been set aside by the state legislature.

SCOUTS GUESTS AT REGATTA

NEWPORT BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Sea Scouts from California, New Mexico and Arizona will be guests of the Newport Harbor Scouts at a regatta and rendezvous to be held in Newport bay during the week of August 19-26, it was announced today by F. R. Hill, chairman of the Southern California Sea Scout rendezvous committee. The youngsters will get to see the opening of the International Star Boat races which are scheduled in Newport bay for August 23 to 28.

ALTAR SOCIETY IN ORANGE HOLDS BENEFIT PARTY
ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—Ladies of the Altar society of the Catholic church held a benefit card party at the American Legion hall Friday night. The committee in charge was composed of the Mesdames Joseph Holtz, V. D. Rossiter, K. A. Lewis, F. Knox, J. Rios, J. Atchley, Norval Evans, and Miss Catherine Oehlke.

Bridge and 500 were played. Prize winners were—bridge, Mr. H. W. Issett, Mrs. C. Neuhing, Anaheim; Mrs. Hapstra, Huntington Beach; and Mrs. Emma McGrady, 500—Phil Homer, Tustin; Mrs. E. Bronken, Santa Ana; Miss Amelia Berkenmeyer and A. Yorba.

PRIVATE SCHOOL HOLDS GRADUATION

LAGUNA BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Graduation exercises for students of Miss Eliza Johnson's school, "Escuela del Mar," were held in the Casa del Camino hotel here Thursday night. Graduates, their parents and friends were honored by a banquet at the hotel and diplomas were presented to Barbara Southern of Emerald Bay and Norman Wagoner of Three Arches.

The two graduates addressed the group, and Roland Blake presented diplomas. Captain Don Wilkie was the speaker for the evening.

Miss Jane Bishop of Los Angeles arrived Thursday to spend a few days visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bronson Barber.

Miss Susan Vidor, daughter of King Vidor, the director, is spending a few days in Laguna.

90 ATTEND GARDEN PARTY AT ORANGE

ORANGE, Saturday, June 22.—Ninety members and guests of the Presbyterian Missionary society were present at the garden party held in the adjoining gardens of Mrs. F. M. Gulick and Miss Grace Harrington, North Harwood street, Thursday afternoon. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. H. L. Haynes.

Mrs. McAulay led in devotions, and Mrs. Gulick gave a talk on missions.

TWO DREDGE WORKERS HURT
NEWPORT BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Two men were seriously injured here yesterday when a chain pulley on the Standard dredge broke and fell on them. A. L. Lent of Newport Beach was taken to the county hospital with a possible fractured skull, and Wayne Gross of Balboa suffered severe injuries to his leg and arm.

GIRLS DISPLAY NEW FASHIONS

WESTMINSTER, Saturday, June 22.—The Young Matrons club of Westminster presented its annual summer fashion show Thursday afternoon. The stage, decorated with summer flowers, was an attractive background for the bevy of attractive girls that modeled the smart daytime frocks, party formals and sport clothes, to music played by an orchestra of club members composed of Mrs. Lucile Wise, Mrs. Grace Groves, and Mrs. May Finley and Mrs. Orion Bebermeyer.

An interesting feature of the program was a playlet given by the young daughters of the club members. The cast included Orpha Irene Price, Joyce Campbell, Charlene Finley, Marian and LaBelle Prindle, Beth Wise, Mary Nell and Lois Grandy, and Evelyn Tretton.

Models were Mildred Robertson, Joyce Campbell, Louise Husk of Midway City, Phyllis Day, Shirley Day, Annabelle Day of Westminster, Gwendolyn Swift and Dorothy Vincent of Huntington Beach, and Ella Hoffman and Dorothy Hunter of Costa Mesa.

Two tiny tents, Janice Campbell and Leslie Penhall, drew the attention of the audience with their presentation of what the well-dressed baby should wear.

The program was brought to a close with the singing of the club song by a quartet composed of Mrs. Lucile Wise, Mrs. Margaret Prindle, Mrs. May Finley, and Mrs. Orion Bebermeyer, with Mrs. Grace Groves at the piano.

SEWAGE PLANT PLANS PASS

SEAL BEACH, Saturday, June 22.—Plans and specifications for a $52,000 sewage treatment plant were accepted by the Seal Beach city council Thursday night. They were drawn up and presented by F. S. Curry, consulting engineer of San Bernardino. Mrs. Ollie B. Padrick, city clerk, was authorized to submit the plans to PWA officials for final approval before advertising for bids.

A resolution was adopted asking Orange county to appropriate $378.79 for improvements on the westerly approach of the Anaheim Bay bridge for a distance of 150 feet.

NEW SCOUT TROOP GETS CHARTER AT ANAHEIM RITES

ANAHEIM, Saturday, June 22.—Quarterly court of honor awards for Boy Scouts of district 4 were made at ceremonies in the city park here Thursday night, featured by presentation of a charter to a new county troop from Cypress by Harrison White, county scout executive.

Kenneth Peck was chairman of the court of honor. Preceding the ceremonies the Anaheim Drum and Bugle corps gave an exhibition drill. Scoutmasters and committee members were introduced by Mr. White.

BOARD PICKS 7 GAMES, STUNTS NEW TEACHERS MARK PICNIC

On the recommendation of School Superintendent Frank Henderson, the board of education last night made several changes in the personnel of the teaching staff in the Santa Ana schools system.

Seven new teachers were elected, and Harry Jackson and Miss Myrtle Martin were assigned to full-time teaching positions in the junior college.

The new teachers are Mrs. Vivian Meeks, who will replace Miss Bertha Briney at Willard Junior High school; Miss Agnes McKinstry to replace Miss Florence Hullsick, who was granted a leave of absence from her position in the elementary schools; Daniel W. Stover to replace Duncan Harnois at Lathrop Junior High school. Mr. Harnois has accepted a position in the Burbank schools.

Other teachers elected are Robert K. Whitten, to fill the vacancy created by transferring Ernest Phillips to the junior college from the high school; Frederick H. Schroeder, to the position of teacher of bacteriology in the junior college; C. Martin Johnson, to a teaching position in the high school; and Miss Margaret Glenn to a position in the physical education department of the high school.

A campaign for quail eggs, and for bantam hens to incubate them, has started with the opening of a hatchery in Cooke county, Texas.

All the games and stunts that make a picnic a gay frolic were enlisted at yesterday's barbecue of Masonic lodge No. 241, attended by nearly 150 members with their families in Irvine park.

Sidney Babcock, master, directed arrangements. Joe Smith was general chairman, and Chal Waters assisted.

Following a barbecue, served by Tony and Duffy, caterers, which the group declared "tops," the picnicers danced in the pavilion.

Prizes in the various competitions were awarded as follows: Cracker-eating contest for men, Lee Boyle; cracker-eating contest for women, Cora Bowers; needle threading contest, Mrs. Dale Griggs and Sidney Babcock; horse shoe pitching contest, Wilford G. Lewis and Chal Waters; women's nail driving contest, Mrs. Roy Roepke, those participating being presented the hammers which they used; men's nail driving contest, Tom Moore; blueberry pie eating contest, John and Betty Lutz.

An old clothes' stunt, which involved speed in dressing up in an assortment of ragged logs, was won by Howard Barrows. Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mrs. Lee Boyle won the Ford-driving contest.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE TRAIN

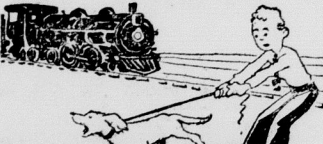

By Mary Graham Bonner
When the automobile stopped, Peter held on to Rip more firmly than ever. There stood the train by the station, puffing away, ready to start.

Rip felt utterly hopeless. He pulled, he tugged, but everything he did made the children only think that he was afraid of the train, that he hated the trip, but that when it was over he would be very happy.

He felt so desperate he almost wanted to bite, but he knew that would be useless. In the first place, the children honestly thought he was lost and that they were giving him a home.

From their talk he knew that they meant to be good and kind to him. But he wanted the love of Willy Nilly and Jelly Bear and Honey Bear and Sweet Face, and mischievous old Christopher Columbus Crow, and Top Notch with his vanity but his friendliness, and the ducks quack-quacking around.

Besides if he hit one of the children something would be done to him so that he might never get home.

He was certainly in a dreadful fix.

Now the children were saying good-bye to their uncle, and the father and mother were saying good-bye and Rip was being pulled onto the train and led through to the baggage car.

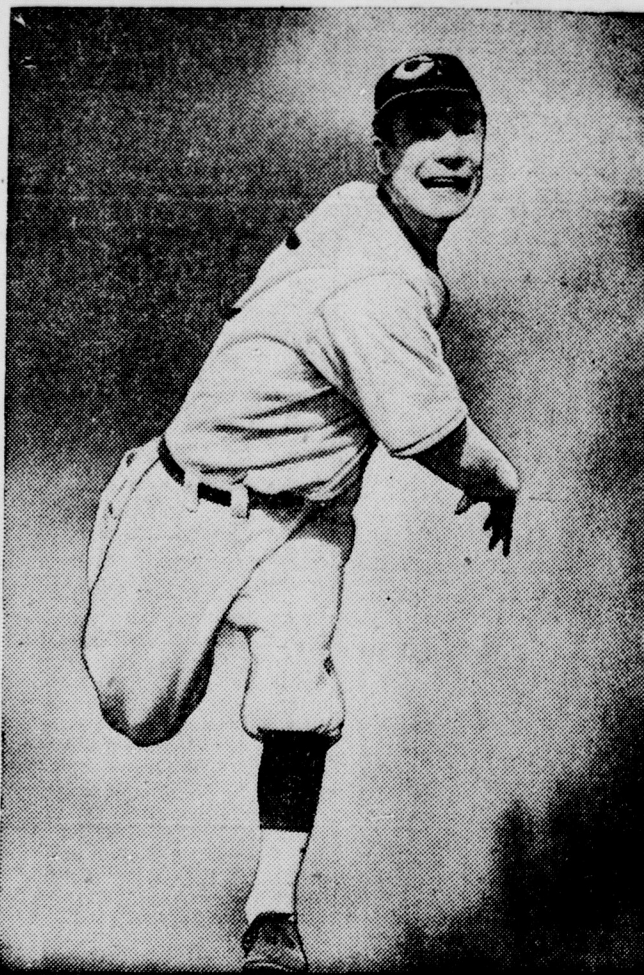

The conductor was calling: "All a-board!"

Now the train was chug-chug-chug-chugging out of the station.

And poor Rip was aboard the now rushing train.

'ALIBI IKE' FILMED AT FULLERTON

Joe E. Brown is shown in a scene from his newest and most hilarious film, "Alibi Ike," which opens an engagement of four days at the Broadway theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Keeper of the Bees," film version of the Gene Stratton-Porter novel. "Alibi Ike" was filmed in Fullerton.

WHEELER AND WOOLSEY COMING IN COMEDY TO WEST COAST

Love will find a way, even to solving a murder mystery, as Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey prove in "The Nitwits," their new comedy feature which opens for four days starting Tuesday at the West Coast theater with a second feature, "Black Sheep," starring Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor.

Wheeler loves blonde Betty Grable in "The Nitwits," and Betty is accused of murdering her boss, a victim of an extortion plot. A gallant gentleman, the fearless lover admits the crime. His pal, Woolsey, confesses. The cops are non-plussed, so Betty remains imprisoned.

Short subjects include a Scrappy cartoon, "Scrappy's Host Story," and World News events.

The Merry-Go-Round

ent had a new baby. Cross directed his secretary to dispatch a letter of congratulations and a copy of the children's bureau's famous booklet, "Infant Care."

A few days later Cross received a letter from the constituent's 9-year-old daughter, reading: "We haven't a new baby. You made a mistake."

The Texan moved fast. He personally wrote a letter of apology to the young correspondent.

"And just to show you that we congressmen have your interests at heart," he added, "I am sending you something which may in part make up for the lack of a baby brother or sister."

The "something" was a life-sized doll.

"CAREFUL SURVEY"
THE story of a three hundred million dollar mistake will be told for the first time when Secretary Ickes's new book comes out late this month. The book is an account of the two years of PWA, entitled "Back to Work."

The mistake involved the original appropriation for Public Works made just after Roosevelt entered office in 1933.

On a warm May day, Senator Wagner of New York was hastily inspecting a final copy of the PWA bill. It had been drafted by Simon H. Rifkind, then Wagner's secretary. The bill called for an appropriation of three billion dollars.

Wagner, calling to Rifkind through the noise of other conversation, said:

"Does this three billion figure include the three hundred million for New York?"

In reply, Rifkind said, "I put it in."

But in the confusion Wagner thought he said, "Put it in."

So he did. He crossed out the $3,000,000,000 and wrote instead $3,300,000,000.

Thus when the President sent his PWA message to Congress on May 17, he said:

"A careful survey convinces me that approximately $3,300,000,000 can be invested in useful and necessary public construction."

PARTY STRIFE
IN the allegedly august United States Senate the matter of personal privilege is highly important. Part of the rule is that no senator shall say or cause to be put in the Record anything derogatory of a colleague.

Bearing this in mind, get the full significance of the action of Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, when he put into the Congressional Record certain South Carolina editorials critical of his colleague from the same state, Senator Jim Byrnes.

Smith is an anti-Roosevelt, old school democrat. Byrnes is a pro-Roosevelt, new deal democrat.

This gives some indication of the internal feud which may rage the truth machine, success crowns their nit-witty efforts. Fred Keating and Evelyn Brent have important parts.

In "Black Sheep" Lowe plays the part of a professional ship gambler who is returning to New York on the second-class deck because the cards and the horses wouldn't behave abroad.

Claire Trevor, as an actress who is "walking home" from her first trip to the Continent, joins forces with him to back a romance and keep a captivating adventures.

Adrienne Ames, from a desperate move involving a young playboy, Tom Brown.

JOE E. BROWN FILM DUE SUNDAY

PROBLEM FILM COMING SOON

Another great problem of today has found its way to the screen in "Age of Indecision," which will show at the Broadway theater for three days starting Thursday, with a second feature, "Dinky," starring Jackie Cooper.

"Age of Indecision" is a dramatic story of a millionaire mother-in-law's fight for the custody of a child of divorce. The picture has a cast including Paul Lukas, Madge Evans, Helen Vinson, May Robson, David Jack Holt and Ralph Forbes.

Miss Robson plays the battling mother-in-law who goes to court and uses her millions in an attempt to wrest the guardianship of his son from Lukas, following the divorce of a philandering wife.

In "Dinky," Jackie Cooper has the role of a manly little chap whose widowed mother sends him to a military school located next door to an orphanage, in which he is eventually an inmate. His orphan-girl sweetheart is played by Betty Jean Haney, and his pals are George E. Stone, Edith Fellows and Sidney Miller. Among the grown-ups in the picture are Mary Astor, Roger Pryor, Henry Armetta and Henry O'Neill.

PAIR CRAZIER THAN EVER IN NEW FILM

Crazier than ever, Wheeler and Woolsey, above, come to the West Coast theater Tuesday in their new comedy feature, "The Nitwits," a blend of hilarious comedy, mystery and romance. The second feature on the program is "Black Sheep," a comedy drama featuring Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor.

"Les Miserables," magnificently produced, with the characterization of the immortal Jean Valjean given superbly by Frederic March and the role of the famous detective, Javert, equally well played by Charles Laughton, ends at the West Coast Theater Monday night, having been held over by popular request.

The story of the starving lad who paid five years of his life in a French prison for stealing a loaf of bread, is poignantly done by March.

The supporting cast includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Rochelle Hudson, John Beal, Frances Drake and Florence Eldridge, who in private life is Mrs. Frederic March.

TWO FILMS END RUN TONIGHT

"People Will Talk," hilarious comedy starring the famous team of Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, and a second feature, "The Awakening of Jim Burke," with Jack Holt, end a three-day run at the Broadway Theater tonight.

Ruggles and Miss Boland provide a laughing good time with their marital difficulties trying to prove to their daughter and her husband that marriage is ideal and their intended divorce is "out."

Jack Holt plays the role of a fighting engineer, who tries to change his son, a sensitive young violinist, because he is unable to understand him. Kathleen Burke, Florence Rice and Jimmy Butler also are featured.

FUTURE FILMS AT BROADWAY TOLD

Thrills of the government secret service agents pitted against organized crime forms the background of "Public Hero Number 1," starring Chester Morris and Jean Arthur, which will open at the Broadway theater on Sunday, June 23. The picture is based on actual cases and reports.

Next on the Broadway bill, opening July 4, is a double feature program with "Vagabond Lady," a romantic comedy featuring Robert Young and Evelyn Venable, and "Colored Scandal," a murder mystery with a college background in which Arline Judge, Kent Taylor and Wendy Barrie have leading roles.

'BECKY SHARP' COMING IN COLOR

Inaugurating what many believe to be a new era in screen entertainment, Pioneer Pictures' first full color feature, "Becky Sharp," previewed here not long ago, will show at the West Coast theater starting next Thursday.

Based upon William Makepeace Thackeray's famous fiction classic, "Vanity Fair," the film stars Miriam Hopkins. Produced entirely in the new three-component Technicolor, it promises a revelation in beauty, fidelity to life and clarity. It is the first full length dramatic motion picture in this process. Miss Hopkins is supported by Frances Dee, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Billie Burke, Allison Skipworth, Nigel Bruce and others.

FRANK C. ADAMS DIES IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Saturday, June 22.—Frank C. Adams, 48, resident of Fullerton, eight years, died yesterday at his home, 146 W. Whiting avenue.

Surviving are his wife, Pauline; two children, Frank and Mary; his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Adams; a brother, N. B. Adams, and a sister, Miss Carrie D. Adams, all of Fullerton; and another sister, Mrs. William Rogers of El Paso, Texas.

The body is at McAulay-Sutro funeral parlors pending funeral arrangements.

$1350 DAMAGES IN CRASH

Damages to a service station, a truck and a load of produce reached $1350 in a spectacular crash and fire at Harding Junction, between Anaheim and Orange, early yesterday. W. J. King, driver, escaped with minor scratches. Assistant Ranger C. H. Alexander, driving a state fire truck to the scene, extinguished the blaze.

When Mr. King attempted to turn the truck at Lincoln and Grand streets, west of Anaheim, the front right-hand wheel brake locked, he said, capsizing the truck into a service station owned by A. H. Booth.

Half of the truck's load, valued at $1500, was lost. Damage to the truck amounted to $350, while a gas pump at Mr. Booth's service station was damaged to the extent of $250.

BEN-HUR SPICES ARE POPULAR

Ben-Hur Spices have for many years been the most popular brand sold in the southwest. This public acceptance has been entirely due to outstanding quality, and Ben-Hur Spices invariably are chosen for demonstration, as in the case of the Hotpoint-Journal cooking school here this week. In cake baking contests, Ben-Hur flavorings are preponderantly used by the winners.

There is a vast difference in the quality of spices, though there is very slight price variation between these best kinds and inferior kinds. Ben-Hur Spices are not only absolutely pure and guarantee full strength, but they are thoroughly reheated before they are ground in the Ben-Hur plant, making them more appetizing and healthful as well as full flavored.

SUSPECT CONFESSES 3 MORE THEFTS OF CHICKENS HERE

After admitting that testimony given last week at his probation hearing was false, Therman Hames confessed in superior court yesterday to three additional chicken thefts and was granted probation for five years by Presiding Judge James L. Allen. As a condition of his probation he will spend one year in the county jail.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ROBBERY COUNTS

Refused his liberty on a writ of habeas corpus, Didrick Mustad yesterday appeared before Presiding Judge James L. Allen in superior court and pleaded not guilty to two counts of robbery. He demanded a jury trial which was set for July 2. He was arrested several weeks ago and identified by his asserted victims as the man who held them up in the Orange home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. L. Page.

COOPERATIVE UNIT HOLDS PIE SOCIAL

A pie social concluded the regular business meeting of the recently organized unit of the United Cooperative Exchange, No. 16, held last night at 509 West Pacific street.

Mrs. Rachel S. Vilex was in charge of arrangements and expressed appreciation this morning to those who assisted with the event.

COMIC IS STAR OF 'ALIBI IKE' AT BROADWAY

Joe E. Brown's latest picture, "Alibi Ike," heralded as the most hilarious film in which the star has appeared, opens a four-day engagement tomorrow at the Broadway theater along with a second feature, "Keeper of the Bees," film version of the novel of the same name by Gene Stratton-Porter.

The story for "Alibi Ike" was written by the late Ring Lardner. It is hailed as a pennant-winning comedy of baseball and blunders. The picture was filmed in Fullerton.

"Alibi Ike" is a big league ball player, a crack pitcher and batter whose average, contrary to most twirlers, runs around the 400 mark. He never makes a play on the field or off it without an alibi, Olivia de Havilland has the feminine lead.

How a young veteran found health and happiness in a peaceful California resort, county provides the intriguing plot of "Keeper of the Bees," which features Neil Hamilton, Betty Furness, Hobart Bosworth, Emma Dunn, Edith Fellows and others.

Short subjects on the program include a Terrytoon cartoon, "King Louie 14th," and World News events.

Civil airplanes in the United States carried 1,859,031 passengers in the last year, 461,743 traveling on scheduled air lines.

MEET WIFE

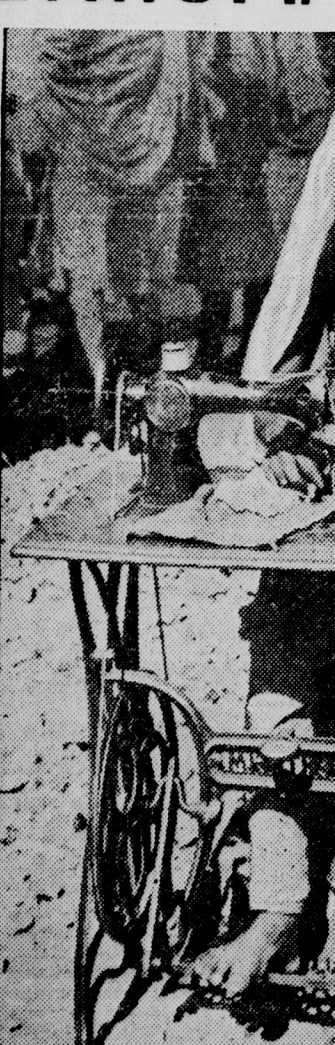

MRS. CECIL B. DE MILLE

She's vice president of the De Mille Pictures Corp. . . . and while she's not the director's severest critic, he is said to pay more attention to her quiet observations than to the more vociferous ones of some of his studio's aides. . . . Constance Adams was a member of the Southern and Marlowe theatrical company when she met De Mille in 1901 . . . they were married in 1902 . . .

The De Mille dinner table is the place where pictures are plotted and planned . . . and Mrs. De Mille has almost as much part in their planning as her husband . . . she suggests cast members, story changes, plot developments . . . her hobby is charity . . . she has been a member of the board of directors of the Children's hospital in Hollywood for many years. . . . She also helped to build the Studio club, a home for extra girls.

ETHIOPIA WAR THREAT LOOMS for BLACK EMPIRE

10—OUTDOOR TAILOR IN "DANGER ZONE"

While the ears of many nations are cocked for the first rumble of drums of war that threatens in far off East Africa, life in Ogaden, Ethiopian border province known as "the danger zone," goes placidly on. Except for the occasional movements of the Emperor's soldiers or the "irregulars" through the streets of Harar, capital of Ogaden, the walled city's routine is as uninterrupted as if Italy never had turned its attention to the "black empire." Here is an "outdoor tailor shop," where an Ethiopian craftsman stolidly plies his trade unhampered by the monthly call of the landlord or threats of eviction.

USE OF LOS ANGELES WORKERS ON SCHOOL JOB HERE PROTESTED

LOCAL MEN SAY THEY ARE NOT GIVEN WORK

Problem Will Be Taken Up With State Board, Officials Decide

Protesting the use of Los Angeles labor on the Santa Ana High school building now under construction, 17 members of the Orange County Association of Bridge and Structural, Ornamental and Reinforcing Iron Workers Union last night presented the board of education with a resolution asking steps be taken to remedy the situation.

W. Maxwell Burke, speaker for the group, told the board that Orange county men who tried to get jobs on the school structure were discharged by the foreman as soon as they were passed on by the inspector. He also said several of the men have been told that if they want to work on the job they must join the Los Angeles union.

The general contract for construction of the building is held by Means, Ball and Honer of Santa Ana. A sub-contract was let to the Soule company of Los Angeles for the steel work. It is the foreman of the Los Angeles company who has been refusing jobs to local men, according to Mr. Burke.

Charge Discrimination. In their resolution, the local iron workers charge they are being discriminated against, pointing out that the only action that has been taken is that the resident steel workers are efficient, and has endorsed the hiring of local men. His endorsements have been disregarded, the board was told.

Ridley Smith, board member, informed the board that the contract for reconstruction of the high school that the men for the following basis: First, jobs were to be given to bona fide residents of the school district and Los Angeles; second, to bona fide residents of Orange county; and third, to bona fide residents of the state.

To Tell State Board. George Wells, president of the board, pointed out to the iron workers that the only action that could be taken by the board would be in the form of a communication to the State Board of Public Building Reconstruction, set up under the Green Bill. On motion of Mr. Smith, members of the board unanimously voted to instruct the secretary, George Newcom, to inform the state board of the situation.

Mr. Burke pointed out that the case before the board last night was a duplication of one that presented itself in the past when the council in relation to construction of the new city hall. Some of the men present last night are working on the city hall structure.

Denied By Contractors. The general contractors today issued a statement to the effect that every man now employed on the school job has been cleared through the Federal Re-Employment offices under the direction of Charles Fallert. One of the contractors said he felt sure that the steel sub-contractor was living up to the letter of the contract 100 percent.

The contractor this morning said that when Mr. Fallert was asked to supply steel setters for the job, they were informed there were no steel setters available through his office. They had to have some, so they got them wherever they could, he stated.

DELEGATES SEND REPORT OF N.D.G.W. CONCLAVE

Echoes of the convention of Native Daughters of the Golden West, which closed today in Sacramento, were revealed to the Santa Ana members who gathered at home through a report received by Mrs. Matilda Lemon, secretary, this morning.

Attracting consideration from the conclave, which had nearly a score of past grand presidents in attendance, were three charter members of the organization, Mrs.

BOYS' BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

Featuring the evening service of the Foursquare church, the South Gate boys' band will give a concert from 7:15 to 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

Composed entirely of boys of high school age, the band is said to be the only organization of its kind in Southern California. It was the feature of a recent radio program presented by the Rev. Sibyl Mae Archer over KFOX.

They have played for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, holiday programs, the state governor, and other notables. Among interesting features of the program will be baton twirling by Miss Betty Melvin, daughter of the manager of the band.

Young people of the church will serve luncheon on the church lawn at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening. "Life's Greatest Adventure" will be the subject of an address by the Rev. Miss Archer, following the concert.

DUNN HOME IS PARTY SCENE

With Florence Dunn as the gracious hostess adding much to the pleasure of the Daughters of Union Veterans who met at her home near Hewes park in Orange yesterday afternoon, the monthly social meeting of the organization was held.

A flag day program was presented by Lena Hewitt, who read the story of "old glory." A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon for the 35 guests who attended. Hostesses for the day were Margaret Robertson, Gladys Ward, Media Grayton, Edith Troxel, Florence Dunn, Helen Mercer and Geraldine Beall.

Lily O. Reichling-Dyer of San Francisco, founder; Mrs. Emma Wright and Mrs. Henrietta O'Neill. More than 700 delegates paid homage to Mrs. Dyer at a banquet in the Senator hotel. From the original group has grown an organization of 170 parlor with 12,500 affiliated native-born women.

Ann C. Thuesen of San Francisco was elected grand president of the order to succeed Gladys E. Nove. From the southern delegation, Hazel B. Hansen of Glendale and Nellie M. Cline of Placentia, were elected grand trustees, and Mary Noerenberg of Hollywood, grand outside sentinel.

Highlighting the conclave was the grand ball June 18, led by Gov. Frank Merriam and Mrs. Nove. Patriotic organizations of the district sent numerous congratulatory greetings to the convention, and scores of interesting speakers and trips made the conference interesting, according to the report.

BEET BONUSES TOTAL $45,316 THUS FAR

Orange county beet growers already have received $45,316.10 from the Agricultural Adjustment administration in bonuses on their 1934 production, it was announced today by Eric E. Eastman, sugar division administrator for the AAA in the southern district of the state.

Mr. Eastman said he has practically completed the first payment of the 1934 crop, which represents an advance of one dollar per ton of beets produced.

At the same time he announced that the second payment on the 1934 output will be due as of July 1. This payment, he said, is guaranteed to be not less than 25 cents per ton, and may be larger. It is based on what is called a parity price differential.

How Price Is Based. This parity price is based on the average returns during the period from 1910 to 1914. The difference between this parity price and the figure actually received by the grower for sale of his 1934 crop will be the amount of the second bonus payment due on July 1, Mr. Eastman explained.

The AAA sugar bonus program is a price stabilization system to assure the grower adequate returns for his production. The grower, on the other hand, agrees to keep his acreage within limits set up under the program. For Orange county the allowable acreage is about equal to that of 1931, which was the largest in the period between 1930 and 1934.

Designed to Stabilize. The AAA sugar program further is designed to stabilize production and prices so that at least 25 percent of the sugar consumed in the United States is produced in this country, Mr. Eastman said.

The first advance, which is now practically complete, was paid out on 167 contracts, most of which involve payments to two persons each, the grower and the land owner. When a farmer raises beets on land rented on a share basis, the land owner receives a portion of the bonus equivalent to his share of the crop. The land owner does not pay for the beets, however, when land is rented on a cash payment basis.

MUSICAL ARTS CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR NEW YEAR

Meeting yesterday for a buffet luncheon in the home of Mrs. George Harper, 225 River drive, Orange, the Musical Arts club elected as its officers for next year its present president, Mrs. W. B. Snow, and Mrs. J. Leslie Steffensen, Mrs. Cecil Fross Willits and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, vice presidents.

Other new officers are Mrs. Grace L. Hammill, treasurer; Miss Carolyn Haughton, recording, and Miss Mildred Marchant, corresponding secretaries. Also Miss Leonora Tompkins, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. D. Mahews, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Zoe G. Sumner, historian; Mrs. George Harper, songleader, and Miss Beulah Parker, publicity.

Pastel gladioli appointed the home and centered the buffet luncheon table. Clarence Gustlin introduced as program chairman the day's guest artists from the Long Beach Musical Arts club, Amy L. Duden, dramatic soprano, and Pauline Farquhar, concert pianist. The Long Beach artists were highly complimented for the quality of the program which they presented.

Monday, July 1, the club will close its year with a picnic luncheon near Laguna Beach. Thirty-five members were present.

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE BIRTHDAY PARTY HERE

Reminiscences of almost 20 years of organization featured the birthday party of the Southwest section of the First Presbyterian church held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cynthia Davis, 421 West Second street.

Mrs. R. J. Blee led the devotions, having a "birthday" theme. The business meeting was under direction of Mrs. L. E. Barry, leader.

Refreshments were presented past leaders of the section, who attended, including Mmes. E. B. Smith, Estella Gray, E. L. Morrison, Edith Ward Moore, H. Mac Vicker Smith, A. J. Beckman, and L. E. Barry.

Refreshments were novel in that a small candle topped each piece of cake served the guests. Mrs. Margaret Church was program chairman. Hostesses included Mmes. John Garthe, A. H. Bowman, Roy Johnson, Elizabeth Decker, and Harrison White.

Housewives at Cooking School Fill Hall to Capacity

This is the way Orange county housewives turn out to learn new ways of keeping their families pleased. It is a picture of the capacity audience that filled Veterans hall, 313 North Birch street, Friday afternoon to attend the final session of the three-day all-electric cooking school staged by Gilbert, Weston and Stearns, local Hotpoint dealers, and The Journal.

SCHOOL SEEKS OLIVE COURSE AID

Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson told members of the Santa Ana school board last night he had written a letter to the state board of education asking for financial assistance in establishing a class in bacteriology at Santa Ana Junior college. He pointed out in his letter that it was possible to obtain a teacher for the class through federal aid. He also explained that arrangements had been made with the Orange County hospital to make the class available to student nurses as a part of their regular training course.

He said he had sent a letter to the county board of supervisors asking them to assist in carrying the expenses of the class. Mr. Henderson estimated that the original expense involved in purchasing equipment for the course would probably not exceed $2000.

On recommendation of Mr. Henderson the board voted to hire Leland Auer to conduct classes in bacteriology at the junior college. Mr. Auer will be paid $5 an evening as long as the band is self sustaining. Each member of the band will be charged 25 cents an evening.

After hearing a report from D. K. Hammond, director of the junior college, concerning the financial condition of the Junior College Student association, George Wells, president of the board, appointed a committee consisting of Ridley Smith and M. B. Youell to investigate the matter. The Students' association has a deficit of more than $1000 for the past year.

CHANGE SCHOOL OPENING DATE

The fall term of school in Santa Ana will start September 16 instead of September 9, as had been previously announced by the board of education. The change in dates was made at the request of D. K. Hammond, principal of Santa Ana Junior college, and upon the recommendation of School Superintendent Frank Henderson.

The week from September 9 to September 14 will be used for registration purposes in both junior college and high school. As a result of the change in dates, the entire school calendar will be set forward one week, with school closing June 19, 1936. This change in dates applies to elementary schools as well as to the other two institutions.

OLIVE HOUSEWIFE WINNER OF PLANNING SARA RANGE AT COOKING SCHOOL FASHION SHOW

Mrs. V. A. Payan Awarded Electric Stove; Capacity Audience Attends Final Session of Institute Sponsored By Hotpoint and The Journal

The envy of hundreds of local women, Mrs. V. A. Payan of Olive, was awarded the Hotpoint electric range, offered by Gilbert, Weston and Stearns, at yesterday's final session of the all-electric cooking school staged this week at Veterans hall and sponsored by the donors of the range and The Journal.

Unable to attend either of the sessions on previous days because her seven-month-old baby had been ill, Mrs. Payan was delighted with her gift. Scores of friends and interested members of the audience came to the stage to congratulate her.

"I enjoyed the school so much today," she said. "Particularly now that I'm to have the range, I'll know how to do all the new things Mrs. Erb explained," she continued.

Mrs. Payan said that she didn't have a range and would certainly be able to use the new electric one.

Award On Third Call. The award was made on the third announcement, as the first woman whose name was called was not present, and the second was a single woman ineligible to receive the range because she is not yet a homemaker.

Little Marilyn Cortner, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Cortner, assisted C. L. Willard of Hotpoint in making the presentation.

Veterans' hall was packed to capacity at the final session of the school by interested housewives from all sections of the county who attended to learn the newest methods of cooking.

Large Crowds Attend. Others presented gifts yesterday included Ruth Taylor, Adea Pikus, Mrs. F. M. Beal, Charles Bullock, Miss Lehner, W. H. Floyd, Kate Richards, Franklin R. Pitner, Billy Reade, Georgia C. Mills, Madge L. Ashley, Alta R. Bishop, May McDonald, Jane Winter, Evelyn Harmon, Richard Lewis, Freda Graves, Rose Johnson, Fred Nixon, F. C. Gaskill, Ruth Weber, Mrs. Lina Knight, Lois Noble, Mrs.

Cooking economically by electricity was demonstrated at the household forum. Electric cookery's adaptability to today's mode of living makes it possible for the progressive homemaker to have a kitchen as beautiful and up-to-date as the rest of her home—at a saving of time, money and energy, she pointed out.

An all-electric kitchen is a housewife's dream come true, according to Mrs. Erb. Few families can buy all new electric equipment at one time, but many can acquire one by one the electrical appliances which will eventually attain the fulfillment of the home woman's desire. Use of the major electric kitchen servants now brings to the user a new low domestic wholesale rate which represents a valuable reduction in home operation costs, she explained.

Included in the appliances exhibited at the cooking school were electric ranges, refrigerators, water heaters and other electric accessories which engaged the interest of the housewives, who were anxious to see the latest designs in kitchen equipment.

Duties of a hostess at a tea in Austin couldn't keep Mrs. Perry E. Lewis away from the school. Too busy to make the first hour, she rushed into the school after intermission, upset because she'd had to miss "one word of the lecture."

"Always stir ingredients of a cake in the same direction," said Mrs. Ruth Erb. "Otherwise you break the air currents." There's another alibi for you people who occasionally have difficulties in the culinary art.

Nomination of the most popular man in Santa Ana this week goes to C. L. Willard, who presided over the gift awarding at the cooking school.

Back stage of the cooking school—tickets being bounced up and down like social registers the month after that one in 1929—cakes being turned out on wire racks so they wouldn't be cooled too quickly—rows of copper pans unknocking at each other—favored ones licking the leavings from the frosting and jam pans.

The audience had a lot of fun at

Examples of the style and beauty that can be created with inexpensive materials will be displayed at a fashion show to be staged from 2:30 to 4 p.m. next Thursday by the State Emergency Relief sewing project, according to Mrs. Charles Stroh, supervisor. The exhibit will be held on the second floor of the Fuller building at Fourth and Van Ness streets.

"The styles will be worn by attractive maids and matrons working on the project," said Mrs. Stroh. Garments made by the women in this project have received much favorable comment, she said.

Music will be furnished by the SARA orchestra. Both men and women are invited to the fashion show, but owing to limited space, Mrs. Stroh asked attendance be confined to adults.

the school, too. There was the lady who "voo-hooed" to Mr. Willard to let him know that she'd won the prize and got a "how are you?" right back from the master of ceremonies. And then the winner of the Franciscan pottery yesterday who squealed with glee.

When Mrs. Erb experimented with baking biscuits in an oven with the door open, she didn't know how successful it would be. The back stage hands gobbled almost the entire batch, however, in about 2 minutes amid "ohs," they decided the heat of a Hotpoint oven was evenly distributed.

Appointing himself errand boy, Hobart Dunn was responsible for candlesticks, roses, and some of the groceries at Thursday's show. "I'd rather cook than anything I know," he told Sylvia Douglas, Mrs. Erb's assistant, and then proceeded to show her what was wrong with her table display of roses.

As a warning to you who use cold ovens, Mrs. Erb reminds, bake 15 minutes longer than when you use a pre-heated oven. Cold ovens are better, though, she said, because otherwise you seal over the top of your cake very quickly, the gases rise from beneath and break the surface—hence it looks like a bride's No. 1 attempt.

And if all you home-makers want to know if Mrs. V. A. Payan, the envy of the school, who was awarded the range from Gilbert, Weston, and Stearns, is a good cook, here's her recipe for Apple-sauce cake. Takes 1 1/2 cups applesauce, 1 cup sugar, 3/4 cup butter, 1 cup raisins, 2 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons soda. Beat the applesauce and sugar together, add the butter and lastly the flour, raisins, soda, and spices to suite taste. A cup of chopped walnuts is a good addition. Bake for an hour in a slow oven.

And then there was the woman who wanted to get a good seat at Friday's session of the cooking school, so she arrived at 11 a. m. with her coolers under her arm and proceeded to settle down until 2 o'clock.

By DUNCAN E. CLARK

The high-tide of summer is upon us. In climbing heaven's vault, the sun yesterday reached its northernmost point. For several days it will apparently pause in rest. Hence, the solstice—"standing of the sun." Then crab-like, a little each day, it will slide backward down the dome.

The first dawn-men, endowed with imaginative simplicity, crowded the heavens with fantastic creatures. A broad belt, enclosing the sun's annual path, circled the sky. Because the ancient Chaldean astrologers attached peculiar significance to the number 12, this celestial belt was divided into 12 portions and the year into 12 months to correspond. Each portion was pictured with a creature whose traits characterized that particular month. Since the sun reached its highest point in June and then crept backward, that portion of the zodiacal belt was called Cancer, the Crab. And the line around the earth on which the sun stands vertical at its most northerly point is called the Tropic of Cancer.

Because those age-wise Chaldeans worshipped 2 and 10, we still count eggs by the dozen, divide the foot into 12 inches, and paint the faces of clocks with 12 numerals. We realize the absurdity in our calendar but lack the force to rectify them because those same old soothsayers loaded their yearly round with 12 months. We may forsake astrology and all its superstitions but the heavy hand of the long-gone past is still upon us.

And so the sun marks another notch on the record of time and continues its ceaseless swing around the circle of the spheres. Man may project his puny plans. Political systems may come and go. Drought and flood may ravage the land. Throbbing storms may blacken the skies. Earthquakes may rock the peoples in convulsive throes. But the eternal promise of the heavens stands secure.

The sun shall rise to the same northern point every year and again stand still at the solstice. In perfect impartiality it swings to the north and again to the south so that summer and winter, heat and cold, growth and decay, shall never cease.

TIME TO TURN BACKWARD Old-Timers Picnic June 30

Time will turn backward when Orange county pioneers will gather Sunday, June 30, at Irvine park for the annual Old-Timers' picnic. Many of those who attend the gathering will have traveled from cities throughout the state, and a few will have come from other states. They will spend the day "swapping" yarns of the "good old days" when Orange county was young and Santa Ana was just beginning.

According to County Clerk J. M. Backs, president of the Old-Timers' association, 1,600 cards were sent out this year by Elmer Burns, secretary of the group, inviting the pioneers to attend. Acceptances already received indicate a huge attendance.

There is no prepared program and no business will be transacted other than electing officers for the next year. The entire day will be spent visiting with neighbors. A few of the pioneers may be asked to speak briefly. Music will be provided in the pavilion. The association will furnish coffee, cream and sugar, but persons attending will bring their own basket lunches and table service.

Santa Ana Girl, Three Orange Young People Today Plight Troths

All Weddings Formal In Nature

Wee Kirk o' Heather Is Chosen By Two Couples; Receptions Follow

Santa Ana and Orange are upholding June bridal tradition today with four formal church weddings.

This evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Evelyn Husted Metzgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harvey Metzgar of 816 Bush street, will become the bride of Lawrence Henry Minge of Anaheim, in a candle-light ceremony in the Episcopal church of the Messiah.

Two hundred-fifty friends and relatives have been invited, and 125 cards have been issued for the reception to follow in the Metzgar home.

Miss Frances Robinson of Orange and Ford Underwood of Santa Ana will exchange wedding vows this evening at 7 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather chapel at Glendale.

At 5 o'clock, Miss Mary Katherine Lowry of Orange was to be married in the same picturesque chapel to Ed Fields of Los Angeles, an engineer in the Metropolitan water district.

Today in the Pasadena Presbyterian church, Grace Hamilton Walker of Pasadena and Dr. Norman Ernest Smith of Orange were to be married.

PIANO STUDENTS PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Piano students of Mrs. J. Orland Smith of Garden Grove were presented in their annual recital Thursday evening in the First Christian church. The program was followed by presentation of certificates and awards for the year's work. Unusual progress was said to be shown by the students who at their recital last June presented a playlet "A Dream" written by Mrs. Smith and published in the May issue of the Etude.

Feature numbers on the program were given by Marcia Hamilton of Santa Ana, who, dressed in costume, played "In China Town" (Kinodella) and Miss Jacqueline Todd of Garden Grove, who gave two harp solos, "Song Without Words" and "The Last Rose of Summer," and a reading, "The Minuet." Elementary and intermediate class members gave a poem, "The Saga of a Successful Student" (Barkway).

Students receiving advanced keyboard harmony certificates were Jacqueline Todd, Ruth Keele, and Betty Parkins, Garden Grove. Certificates in the elementary division were presented Abbie Lou Walden and Arda Mae Jewell, Santa Ana, and Eugene Perkins, Eleanor Anderson, Mara Dunlop, Marian Engen and Margaret Lamb, Garden Grove.

Arda Mae Jewell of Santa Ana received an award card for exceptional progress, and Marian Engen of Garden Grove one for perfect attendance.

Others taking part were Dolores New, Victor Landerbach, Vera Mae Watkins, Evelyn Lamb and Lois Weber. Invocation preceding the program was given by Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan.

Mothers of the students served refreshments at the close of the program. Mrs. Ray Jewell of Santa Ana and Mrs. T. V. Todd of Garden Grove were in charge.

A federal nursery for the shelter belt projected across the mid-western plains is planned for Hardeman county, Texas, near Quanah.

Unusual Cape Treatment

In Smart Easy-to-Make Marian Martin Frook

PATTERN 9393

Perhaps because fashion favors capes so highly this season we see them in so many unique variations; but I suspect it's partly because everyone loves to look dresy, keep cool and eliminate unnecessary fitting! And that's easy to accomplish with pattern 9393! The unusual two-piece cape, stitched so neatly to the yoke may look very trim or fetchingly feminine depending on whether you add a poste to the neckline. A soft waistline is achieved by the darts and the simple skirt flows gracefully from the pointed yoke. A cotton lace would be charming with neckline flowers and eyelet batiste, printed voile or silk are also good. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Mrs. Leonard E. Echols (June Spray) left, and Mrs. G. C. Spray of Holt avenue, Tustin, are two popular young Santa Ana matrons, whose marriages have occurred within the past season.

Mrs. Harrison, whose home is at 605 East Washington street, was married June 2 at her parents' home, in an impressive garden ceremony. She and her sister both were married by the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, First Christian church minister.

Mrs. Echols' marriage took place last Oct. 28 in the First Christian church, and a reception was given for her afterward in her parents' home. The sisters alternated in attending each other at the weddings.

Regatta to Open Midsummer For Newport Yacht Club

Monday, July 1, midsummer activities at the Newport Harbor Yacht club will open with participation in the Sir Thomas Lipton star boat trophy race off Santa Barbara. The four-day race is a highlight of the club year. This month, club doings have been of an informal type.

Thursday afternoon, July 4, special races will begin at 1:30 o'clock. Snowbird races will also begin. Friday, a ladies' bridge luncheon is scheduled. Saturday, Newport Harbor star elimination activities will begin at 2:30 p. m., when performance handicap races are scheduled. A fourth of July dance is scheduled in the evening.

Sunday, July 7, star eliminations and performance handicap races will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Tuesday, July 11, the girls' snowbird series will start. Friday, the ladies' bridge luncheon is slated. Saturday after the usual races, an informal dance will be given.

Tournament of Lights

The same procedure will be followed during the week of July 15, and in the following week, with the exception that Saturday, July 27, will be the annual bay tournament of lights, and the clubhouse will be especially busy since visiting yachtsmen and their families will make it their rendezvous. The week of July 29 will revert to summer routine.

August's first will be uneventful except for participation of local yachtsmen in the 13th Pacific coast and 15th Southern California Yachting association championship.

Wearing gay little frocks of ruffled organdies, embroidered linens and other summery materials, the young piano pupils of Ruth Ann Walker made a series of pretty pictures as they appeared in an ensemble recital last evening in the Ethel club lounge. Some 75 relatives and friends attended.

The children, introduced by Miss Walker, played dual piano numbers and solos.

The older pupils interpreted works of Schubert, Mozart, Debussy, Godard and others. They were complimented on their playing.

Miss Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless Walker of North Sycamore street, has studios in Long Beach, Santa Ana and Hollywood, where she is living.

Three weeks of learning to speak Spanish "as the natives do" is to be the experience of Miss Mary Henrietta Nau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nau, 206 South Birch street, who leaves Monday in a party of 30 Pomona college students for Mexico City to attend summer session at the National university. Mary is majoring in chemistry at Pomona. Next year she'll be a senior.

Orange county is proud of Sally Coe Mueller, coloratura soprano, who with perfect ease and beauty of tone took and swelled on G above high C in the lovely "Bell Song" of Lakmi Thursday afternoon in Spreckels amphitheater, San Diego. Sally sang superbly and well again, twice, on Wednesday, July 24, at the fair.

Your Tattler could go on for columns about the San Diego exposition, which she visited Thursday to chaperone Ruth Armstrong, Sally Lee Scales and the Cantando club. From time to time, things probably got into mind and into Teapot Tattle—so be prepared!

Just now she will only say that the hospitality of San Diego is truly a joy. It being her first fair and her first real visit to San Diego, there were thrills aplenty, more than a few laughs, as for instance when Cantando's singing broadcast through loudspeakers enticed scores of tourists into the motion picture

Winifred Ball Entertains Friends

Miss Winifred Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ball of 111 West Seventeenth street, entertained a group of her friends from the University of California at Los Angeles Thursday evening for a buffet supper at her parents' home.

As the guests arrived before the supper hour they were entertained at various table games including tennis, the Gold Star mable game and other sports set up in the backyard of the home.

Mrs. Ball was assisted in the serving of the supper by her daughter, Josephine. After dinner, games and dancing were featured.

Guests included Misses Edith Brookmiller of Pomona, Eleanor

Summer is at last upon us . . . lazy days, if one had the time to be lazy . . . warm days . . . and "ere glad to be in the lap of the club duties that are fun during winter and early spring.

Santa Ana Community Players accomplished a modern miracle in holding back the calendar and presenting a play this week, after season's close.

It was a good play, but then the cast and director, Gladys Simpson Shafer, and the whole tradition of S. A. P. ship precluded failure! The audience was amused as the play progressed . . . it enjoyed seeing Mona Summers Smith and Warren Fletcher working together—rain, too.

Among the playgoers we saw Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon, whose hair looked "specially lovely" and soft against the blue of her frock . . . the Ernest Crozier Phillips' with attentive expressions . . . Frank Lansdown leaning forward in his seat . . . Mrs. Robert Northcross with an indulgent smile hovering on her lips . . . Irene and "Joe" Daniger smiling happily at each other (as don't they always?) . . . Harry Hanson looking "presidential" . . . and somehow they all suggested an "Aedest Fideles" for S. A. C. P.

Who were the two noted writers who would ride through the country and spend hours searching for the ideal adjective to apply to a plant or panorama? Perhaps they could translate into written words the music of little twins chattering in a blue bonnet.

Jack Ellwanger, talk in different keys in a most intriguing way . . . Mrs. Robert Northcross with an indulgent smile hovering on her lips . . . Irene and "Joe" Daniger smiling happily at each other (as don't they always?) . . . Harry Hanson looking "presidential" . . . and somehow they all suggested an "Aedest Fideles" for S. A. C. P.

Does your home need remodeling? Mrs. Susan Rutherford's home at Balboa, (which her friends insist has always been charming) underwent a change recently and now boasts hardwood floors and walls done in the new and swanky manner with ivory paint and natural rubbed knobs . . . the walls are prettily papered . . . and upstairs, overlooking the blue bay, is a brand new sun porch complete with garden furniture, beach umbrellas, swings and the like . . . doesn't it sound grand?

Bess Garner and Juan Matute, very-important at the Padua Hills Little Theater, will show motion pictures and "stills" taken recently in Old Mexico, and talk on folk songs and dances of the country after the Sunday night buffet supper at the theater tomorrow . . . anyone may go . . . costumes and decorative articles from Mexico will also be shown.

The "Serenata Lupita," folk presentation, this week gave way to a new play at the theater, "Rosita." Courtship and marriage as the much romantic Latin will have it, are the theme of the new show. "Rosita" will be played until the end of June.

Six weeks of learning to speak Spanish "as the natives do" is to be the experience of Miss Mary Henrietta Nau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nau, 206 South Birch street, who leaves Monday in a party of 30 Pomona college students for Mexico City to attend summer session at the National university. Mary is majoring in chemistry at Pomona. Next year she'll be a senior.

Orange county is proud of Sally Coe Mueller, coloratura soprano, who with perfect ease and beauty of tone took and swelled on G above high C in the lovely "Bell Song" of Lakmi Thursday afternoon in Spreckels amphitheater, San Diego. Sally sang superbly and well again, twice, on Wednesday, July 24, at the fair.

Your Tattler could go on for columns about the San Diego exposition, which she visited Thursday to chaperone Ruth Armstrong, Sally Lee Scales and the Cantando club. From time to time, things probably got into mind and into Teapot Tattle—so be prepared!

Just now she will only say that the hospitality of San Diego is truly a joy. It being her first fair and her first real visit to San Diego, there were thrills aplenty, more than a few laughs, as for instance when Cantando's singing broadcast through loudspeakers enticed scores of tourists into the motion picture

Whereupon we cease tattling until another Saturday.

MABEL HARRISON COMPLIMENTED AT SHOWER

Honoring Miss Mabel Harrison of 1068 West Second street, a linen shower was given by a group of friends from the United Brethren church in the social room of the church, Tuesday afternoon.

Entertainment took a nuptial theme. Mrs. Robert Emerson read the section of "Little Women" where Meg made her first batch of currant jelly and her young husband chose that particular night to bring home an unexpected guest for dinner. Mrs. J. H. Noble read a poem, "Starting Out," and presented a copy of it to the honoree, Mrs. P. Gammell sang "My Beloved," preceding a mock wedding ceremony.

Participants in the ceremony were Miss Harrison as bride and Mrs. R. L. Hager as groom. Caroline Hager attended as flower girl, and Harold Jackson served as ring bearer. Mrs. H. A. Colby portrayed the role of minister. The bride party entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Charlotte Colby, and the humorous service was read from a large dictionary, before a flower-decked altar, set with white candles in beautiful side candelabra.

Refreshments closed the afternoon. Mrs. Noble and Mrs. B. Mustard were in charge of plans and decorations.

Miss Harrison attended John Brown college in Arkansas following graduation from Santa Ana High school. Completing her course in three years, she returned home May 24 for a short visit with parents and friends, previous to her marriage to Rogene Weathers, also a graduate of this year's class at John Brown college. They are both trained for work in the foreign mission field and expect to be sent to Africa. They will make their home at Windsor, Mo., where they will be married June 27, previous to departure for the foreign field.

Janet Martin Honored At Party

Miss Janet Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Martin of 1303 West Fifth street, and bride-elect of Richard Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, 2123 North Main street, was complimented yesterday at a lovely luncheon given by Miss Lula Minter and Mrs. Warren Brakeman in the former's home at 322 West Third street.

Guests included 24 family friends of the young couple, whose wedding is scheduled for next Saturday in First Baptist church. Both Miss Martin and her fiancé have attended the Santa Ana schools. Mr. Robbins' grandfather was one of the early Baptist ministers in Santa Ana.

In the luncheon hour, six tables were appointed with linens purchased in Europe by Miss Minter, and favors in pink, green, blue, peach, yellow and orchid tints. Placecards were miniature bridal figures and completed two wedding parties of 12 figures each. Nut-baskets were poke bonnets.

Centering each table stood a miniature maiden wearing a garden hat trimmed with tiny pastel flowers, and a filmy organdy frock also flowered in pastel organdy, and carrying in her arms sprays of fresh garden flowers in color contrasting her frock.

After the two-course 12:30 luncheon, the guests either hemmed tea towels for the honoree, or worked on a bride's story book.

A shower of green kitchenware trinkets was given Miss Martin. Mrs. M. Phillips, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, sang an impromptu solo.

Mable Pruitt To Work For Master's

Miss Mable Pruitt, pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pruitt, 1010 West Sixth street, has little time to rest on the laurels bestowed her in her recent graduation from the University of Southern California.

She already is enrolled in S.C. summer session to complete work on her master's degree in dramatics.

Miss Pruitt's U.S.C. undergraduate activities included membership in Kappa Delta and Zeta Phi Eta sororities, membership in the Trojan Amazons being a member of the National Collegiate Players, of which she is a past president, and being a past president of the college Drama Shop.

Teaching is her plan for the future. The Santa Ana has been in various Santa Ana Community Players' productions and is a past president of Wrycende Maegden club.

With an S.E.R.A. orchestra playing for dancing, a steak bake for Golden State Royal Neighbors of America was held Thursday evening in Irvine Park for more than 125 members and their families.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Earl Stone, Jack Baker, Warren Bramley and Jake Garr.

Church Rites Unite Young Couple

Miss Elizabeth Jane Drysdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Robert Drysdale of Costa Mesa, became the bride of Francis Grist of Los Flores, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grist of Santa Ana, in a simple wedding ceremony performed by the Rev. Perry F. Scholz, First Congregational minister, in his church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Seventy relatives and close friends were present.

The bride couple stood before a floral altar of gladioli and delphinium banked in maidenhair ferns.

Cousin Sings

Mrs. E. Manfred Evans, a cousin of the bridegroom, Los Angeles, sang two songs chosen by the bride, "Because," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride and bridegroom were unattended. The bride wore a white suit of sheer wool, an understating collar framing her face. She wore a white satin blouse and all-white accessories with a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Ushers were Robert Drysdale and Raymond Grist, brothers of the bride couple.

Reception Follows

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church bungalow. Here the new bride and groom were greeted by their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale; she gowned in a navy blue sheer dress with a corsage of gardenias, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grist, Mrs. Grist in rose crepe, with corsage of talisman roses and blue delphinium, assisted them.

Ice cream and cake were served. After the bride had cut the first piece of the beautifully decorated bride's cake it was cut and served by Miss Beryl Willets of Costa Mesa, who with Miss Barbara Mae Hoagland and Miss Aileen Colombini, of Santa Ana, made a gay picture in their bright summer frocks.

Showered with rice, the young couple left for a honeymoon at the Big Bear, where they will occupy the Grist mountain cabin. Upon their return they will receive their friends in the ranch home which is in readiness for them at Los Flores near Oceanside.

CHINA SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

In compliment to Mrs. Kimball Pratt (Velma Forester), a surprise post-nuptial shower was given Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, 1006 West First street.

A set of china was presented the honoree from the guests who attended.

Prizes in the play of "whoopie" went to Miss Hazel Forester and Mrs. Dale Elliott.

Others present were Meses Charles Cathcart, Fred Drake, Herbert Heanes, and the Meses Dorothy Schneider and Lorraine Wheeler from Santa Ana; Mrs. William Ray, Cypress; Mrs. E. L. Smith, Glendora; and Miss Ruth Cathcart, Balboa.

THE painstaking care of the Craftsman of old lives today in our efforts to produce high grade printing . . . Unlike him, however, we are not handicapped by antiquated methods. Ours is a modern plant equipped in every way to produce the finest printing.

It is one thing to write a piece of good copy, but an entirely different problem to transform it into an attractive piece of printed matter.

It is this transformation which must take place before good copy becomes good printing . . . that is the job of our typographic craftsmen.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER SANFIELD

And still another Los Angeles product lands in New York's big time—Joe Twerp. You'll hear his garbled tongue twisters during "Radio City Party," KFI-ABC, 5 to 5:30 o'clock. The program will also feature Ray Hendricks, tenor, another graduate of the southland. Ray, along with Helen Ward, is featured vocalist with Benny Goodman's orchestra. Also to be heard during the broadcast—Jimmy, Jack & June, singing and comedy trio.

Tonight's edition of Al Jolson's show, KFI, 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock, originates in Hollywood. Victor Young's orchestra, and Peggy Gardiner and Jack Stanton, vocalists, will continue on the program, having made the trip west with Jolson.

From the screen, the noted actor-singer will present Alice Faye and Jimmy Cagney, from the sports world—Man Mountain Dean and Chief Little Wolf, wrestlers. Swoosh & Good, blackface comedians of local fame, get a feature spot on the program.

WEEKS CITRUS REVIEW

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, June 22. (AP)—California lemons sold during the past week in the eastern and middle western auction centers were sharply higher to an average price per box for the week of $3.46, a gain of 51 cents per box over the average of the previous week. Shipments increased 33 cars to a total of 301 cars of lemons sold.

Valencia's dropped off for the second successive week to an average price per box for the week of $2.90, a loss of 10 cents from the average of the preceding week. There were 12 cars more, or 661 cars, of oranges sold in the auction centers this week than last.

Unless a surplus control plan can be put generally into effect which will result in the elimination of small sized and undesirable fruit from the markets, California will face a greater surplus of oranges than ever before. Such was the statement of Dr. D. D. Waynick of the Orange County Farm bureau who has presented a plan for surplus control to all packing house managers and citrus leaders generally for investigation.

Pending the possible adoption of this plan, citrus leaders are urging each packing district to formulate its own plan and put it into operation.

The California Fruit Growers exchange, commenting on the market as a whole, says:

"The orange market is again lower but showed signs of strengthening toward the end of the week. Volume of sales was unchanged. Valencia shipments for all shippers have been cut to 1000 cars for next week which should result in an improved market situation.

"Export shipments continue very heavy. Florida shipped 250 cars of oranges and 175 cars of grapefruit this week. Their market has been very low on both varieties with oranges finishing at the lowest prices on record.

"The lemon market is doing better especially on small sizes with marked improvement in markets where more favorable weather has developed."

The California-Arizona citrus marketing agreement has set next week's prorate at 1000 cars of Valencia's, 15 percent of which will be sold as loose fruit in nearby markets. Next week's prorate has been allocated as follows by the growers' advisory committee: 975 cars Southern California Valencia's; 25 cars central California Valencia's; 150 cars Southern California grapefruit; 25 cars desert area grapefruit; 20 cars central California grapefruit.

Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week, and for the corresponding weeks of 1934 and 1935 follow:

VOL. 1, NO. 46 Saturday, June 22, 1935

To County Fair Promoters:

Honestly now, are you betting on pumpkins or ponies?
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Members of the Legislature:

You've adjourned. Praises be!
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana Husbands:

Well, fellows I expect you are all gorging yourselves on new tidbits today, now that The Journal-Gilbert, Weston & Stearns Cooking School is over. You can throw away those can-openers now.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Ralph Smedley:

Congratulations again! Your prize-winning speech at the Toastmasters' club was a gem, say those who heard it. This, following recent Rotary editorial honors, should be satisfying indeed!

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Anaheim Residents:

You are fortunate to have such a fine park and to be able to put it to such good use this summer. A perusal of a list of gatherings you have scheduled proves it is a big drawing card and brings you a host of visitors.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Laguna:

Save a place for me. I'll be seeing you a week from tonight and during the week following at your annual Festival of Arts. From what I know of the plans being perfected, this truly is going to be your "biggest and best."

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Masonic Lodge No. 241:

With Sidney Babcock to put you through your paces at Irvine park yesterday afternoon it must have been a strenuous day for the whole family. Never mind those aching joints; you'll forget all about them long before you do the good time everybody had.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Gov. Frank Merriam:

Orange county voters are familiar with many of your failings and weaknesses but they admire your defiance of the commercial fishing interests. Signing the bill that establishes a fishing preserve along the Orange county coast line took a bit of courage and the "big boys" will be after you most likely. Down here we're mighty grateful.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the Cantando Club:

I am still hearing grand reports of your concerts at the San Diego fair Thursday. One couldn't very well have been on the grounds that day without being reminded of Santa Ana and Orange county. The county surely owes you a debt of gratitude for this worth-while publicity. I have reason to believe this is the beginning of far-reaching fame for your organization.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Councilman Ernest Layton:

That was a happy thought of yours about planning for a real Santa Ana celebration on the occasion of the city's Golden Jubilee a year from now. If it can be worked out on a big scale the city ought to profit by it in more ways than one. First, it would provide a great deal of valuable publicity and second it would unite the people in a common objective, a goal which is much needed here just now.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Harmon M. Waley, Weyerhaeuser Kidnaper:

By this time you and your kind must realize the kidnapping business has gone the way of a lot of other one-time popular gang rackets. During the next forty-five years you will have time to figure out some other way of making a living so you won't have to worry about an old-age pension. Of course they may get around to an old-age pension system by the time you get out of jail but there's nothing certain about it. Our hunch is to go in for wood-carving, building ships inside of bottles and making glass beads. Probably too, you should arrange for a screen test.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Senator Edwards, Representatives Craig, Utt and Supervisor West:

Orange county is pretty well stirred up for the moment over the oil investigation which is proposed as an attempt to find out "who killed Cock Robin." Mr. West's charges that the Huntington Beach controversy would produce a greater scandal than the Teapot Dome affair that rocked the nation some years ago, are to be sifted. Mr. West's friends are now saying he didn't mean to cast reflections on either Senator Edwards, or Representatives Craig and Utt. When you testify before the assembly oil committee, Mr. West, you will have opportunity to tell us just what you did mean, who you were aiming at and what the basis of your charges is—or was. You will have opportunity to satisfy those who think you were just talking. A load of dynamite caught fire in Trabuco canyon the other day and the dynamite just went "phfft."

COL. V. ORANGE.

Whimsies of O.O. McIntyre

When one has exactly 35 minutes to turn out a column it's no picnic. Either this one must be off to the printer in that time or something else will fill the space. And permitting something else to fill the space is always dangerous. It might by sheer excellence become permanent.

The inclination is to reprint some old column and label it "By Request" but editors are he to that one. So a fellow must muddle through. Instead I shall fill in a few paragraphs with a letter that pleased me. Pleading because it is from that hard-boiled, crack newspaperman, Gene Fowler.

And because it came—from all places—from far-away Damascus. Said he: "A muzzin on a minaret was hawking some passages from The Koran today and made me think of you. It seemed to say 'Odd McIntyre sells old clothes.' So I'm dropping a line to say something I've never told you. 'But which I have long felt. You have always been interesting and fertile of brain without once, to my knowledge, having had to quit being a newspaperman and hurting someone. So best of luck from out here where all the aromas are not wafted from the cedars of Lebanon.'"

Speaking of The Koran, I once picked up for 18 cents in a 4th avenue book shop an English translation of the Moslem prophet's philosophy. I fell away from its charm upon learning that to Islam those with blue eyes are destined to eternal fires. Many friends are blue eyed. My wife is blue eyed, the blue of corn flowers. But in the introductory passage to the Mohammed treatise I ran across a word I never discovered before. Namely: monoglot.

That is what I am—a monoglot, i. e. a person who has command of one language only. I wish someone with a gusto for fine food—someone such as Ford Madox Ford, Julian Street or George Rector—would annotate a few paragraphs on the why of the appeal of those neatly bleak open kitchen places with hickory burning fires. Whenever I'm hungry I can't stay away from them, but once arriving, I eat but little. The customers are booming and hearty and suggest stoking. Yet I can go to the sedate and tiny orchestral places—Gene and Ernest's Colony, for instance—with the appetite of a sick canary and pop vest buttons in shameless gorging.

A sudden paucity of unread modern books drove me to Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" the other rainy night. For two hours I was gazing again across the acres of chimney pots, wandering at twilight through Parc Monceau, prowling through the shadowy porticoes of Place de Vosges, dropping in for a croissant and glass of milk at the dainty Kendall Lee-like lady's boulangerie in rue des Petit Champs and riding by post-chaise along the Seine toward St. Cloud. So real was the transition I expected to see a shawled and mustached concierge when I looked out the window toward a Waldorf doorway instead of the night hawk taxi driver.

I was thinking today of an assignment to interview Jane Cowl when the actress was most effulgent of the bright stars. I have talked to presidents, one king and one ex-king since, all collectively were not as difficult to reach as Miss Cowl. Such abracadabra looks silly from the sidelines, but it's a great build-up. It so impressed me I always think of Miss Cowl along with Bernard, Duse and Marlowe, yet I know she is in no wise so talented. It's like Amos Carter's story of the Texan who wired he could send 100,000 full-frog skins and about two weeks later sent in one lone skin by mail with the note: "I was fooled by their hollerin'."

It interests me that the sons of Eddie Collins, baseball player, Martin Quigley, movie magazine editor, have consecrated their lives to religion. The Collins lad is in an Episcopal theological seminary and Quigley's son at the proper age is to study for a Jesuit priesthood. The fathers are men of the world whose lives have been many-faceted. That, in the buzz-fuzz of rampant materialism, they should want their sons to spread the spiritual solace of the Scriptures will hearten many who see faith tumbling.

A group led on by Wendell Dodge discussed descriptive poetical lines in the Murray Hill barber shop this noon. Keats, Shelley, Byron and Browning were quoted. A manicure girl working over the sturdy hand of Capt. Bob Bartlett, no less, looked up and recited a line from Eddie Guest that "the geranium was the orchid of the poor." As good as any, I thought. So the column is finished with five minutes to spare. I even had one foot off the floor part of the time. (Copyright, 1935)

A total of $98,000,000,000 of life insurance now is in force in the United States, according to John R. Mage of Los Angeles, president of the Life Underwriters' association. If agriculture really is the foundation of the nation's prosperity there is evidence that we are in a fair way back to good times. Several who have traveled across the continent within the last few weeks bring reports of good crops and renewed hope in the rural sections. The industrialists have not yet emerged from the depression. One observer tells us, that in one city he noted tall office buildings being torn down, because unprofitable, and one and two-story structures being put in their place. The recovery, it seems, must begin in the rural sections if it is to be real and permanent. It is to be hoped that this bright picture of agricultural hope will

Talks to Parents

By Brooke Peters Church

Easy Popularity

As her lass mates began to grow up and have "dates" with boys and attend parties, Martha found herself more and more left out of the group. It was not so much that she was unpopular. She had a certain number of friends at the school, and was above average in attractiveness. But socially she was "younger" than the other girls of her age, and lacking in the superficial sophistication which they possessed. Furthermore, her mother thought her too young for boys, and had never encouraged the easy and high-school familiarity of the two sexes.

Had No Help

Martha grew more and more anxious as time went on and she found herself increasingly lonely. She too wanted to be popular and to have admirers to discuss. But she had nowhere to turn for help and advice. Her mother would have pooh-poohed the whole situation and ended by saying, "There's plenty of time. Wait."

Feeling Well Today?

By Dr. Iago Galdston

Of all the questions a physician is asked to answer, the one "What shall we eat?" is one of the most difficult to answer correctly. Yet we can scarcely pick up a magazine or newspaper and not find a leading article on the subject of diet. Some of these are written by persons who are paid to advertise the products of certain grocers or packers of specified articles of food.

Most of them are written by those who have studied the needs of our systems and the chemical and physical contents of food products. They must consider us as a group and not as individuals; and we are all individuals, especially in our ability to digest and assimilate food and in our particular needs for certain food elements.

That is what makes it so difficult to outline a diet for a group or mass of people. A patient may consult his physician. Careful physical and maybe chemical examinations are needed. Questions concerning his work and mode of living, the requirements of his daily life, his discomforts and reactions are asked and the answers noted. Possibly discovery is made that certain parts of his digestive apparatus is not working to its full capacity. The doctor may be able to outline a diet that will be proper for that one.

Not Right for Group But this diet would not be proper for a group of five or six individuals of different habits and reactions to various articles of food. Perhaps one thing is certain. The great majority of us eat to much food.

The person whose job requires hard physical labor, or the active sportsman who works hard and long at his pastime can scarcely eat too much food, providing that he eats slowly, chews well, does not carry his work to the table, and takes a short nap after eating. Meat, potatoes, coarse vegetables, milk, eggs, fruit and pastries are all right to his mill, unless he has some idiosyncrasy to certain of these foods. That's his problem to solve.

Even the most perfect digestive apparatus may not take care of certain articles of food. Strawberries, shell fish, eggs and sour milk, chemically the most perfect of foods, may be injurious to some.

The diet for the office worker, the stenographer, the chemist, the librarian, whose most strenuous exercise consists of hustling to get home at night should not be the same as for the other group. How about sweets and pastries? Sweets, or plain sugar, provides energy and heat. We need it. Pie and cake? Well, I have seen pies that I might advise letting alone, and I have seen others that a very small child could take care of. Eat slowly, chew thoroughly, and rest after eating, and what you eat will become less a problem.

RURAL RECOVERY (Redlands Daily Facts)

"SUCKER" LIST (Ontario Daily Report)

The instinct to gamble seems to be about as deeply rooted an urge as the human race possesses. Nevertheless, even the most confirmed take-a-chance addict likes to get something in the nature of a run for his money. Announcement of the awards in the Irish sweepstakes indicates how microscopic the chances of a lottery ticket purchaser are of really winning anything. Tickets were sold to 2,443,000 Americans in this last sweepstakes. Seven of these prizes—precisely seven—split the rich prizes. That makes the odds approximately 350,000 to one against the average ticket-holder. When odds are as long as that, the buyer of a ticket can't really be called a gambler. "Sucker" is a much better word.

Rotary's New Presidents

The following is the fourth of a series of sketches of new Orange county Rotary club presidents, as prepared by The Rotary Wheelbarrow, the official publication.

Here is the tale of Robert Burns McAulay, of Orange, as he dashed to off just before entering for Mexico.

"My parents tell me that I first saw the light in Port Morion, Nova Scotia. This was so close to the Atlantic that I had a bath every day to take the salt off my face. This occurred in the last decade of the last century. While still a baby, my parents brought me to Anaheim in 1896. In the Mother Colony I went through grammar school and high school. Graduated from Occidental in 1916. Took three years post graduate work at San Francisco Theological Seminary and extra work at the University of California.

"The first job I ever had was mowing lawns for Dr. Herb Johnston in the days when he used to ride around on a bicycle or horse and buggy. During high school days I worked in a meat market.

"My work has been in the Presbyterian ministry. I was assistant for a while in San Francisco and then in Napa. Served as pastor for nine years in Sacramento and then for the past six years here in Orange.

"Married Flora Crowley, graduate of Occidental, in 1920. We have two children, a boy and a girl.

"My hobby is my family. My cherished and open ambition is to be as good a president as Bob Robinson has been."

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

I have received the most shocking souvenir card. It's a picture of an electric chair at Sing Sing. I don't sing or care to. Guess I'll send it to the Cantando club, but come to think about it that won't do. When they sing they stand up, and the fellow who does the singing in Sing Sing is requested to sit down. They are very polite in Sing Sing.

One of my friends has an oil lease he would like to let go of. I advised him to try The Journal swap column.

News drifts in to the effect that Gene Kelly proposes to adopt a reducing schedule. Should a challenge come in unexpectedly Gene wouldn't be able to respond. He's now overweight. But what's a little matter of a few extra pounds when you do not care for food more than morning, noon, night and an occasional afternoon extra. Gene has the finest control and technique. He can refrain when there is no temptation, but if he is threatened he can give a demonstration of what a healthy man can do and live through it.

Sid Allendar, who is a story teller as well as a baseball umpire, tells this one to the boys. Sid had a dream, so he says, and to make the story brief insists that Saint Peter admitted him into heaven when he found out that he was a umpire. On the theory that the position involved all of the opposite elements. It's just as I suspected. Sid is still getting by on a pass.

What that Bear-Braddock fight lacked in real pugilistic punch the broadcasting announcer tried to put into it. It was so apparent that even the radio audience lost interest. Why, Sam Samson's entertainments were a thrill when you make a price comparison.

Here's an enterprising citizen. He came to me yesterday with a good proposition, if he can put it over. He wants to start a business, and then have the community chest pay for it. The only objection I can see is that when it comes up before the budget committee and Alex Brownbridge gets a rap at it, the proposal will look like a third-degree case of hook-worm.

Met George Briggs. Before I could make a suggestion he said to me he wasn't leaning any money. And I was further convinced that it was not only the longest day of the year but the toughest one.

Ed Lentz is a good motorcycle officer. On two different occasions when this combination of flesh and bones has been risking his life crossing the center of the street, where he has no business, Ed has been kind enough to miss me twice. Still waiting for Byron Curry to come in with his ministerial friend. By this time I am certain his friend is not a minister. The minister keeps his appointments. Oh, well, what can you expect of a part of an old poem: "I'll fare the land to hastening lies aprey, when men play golf instead of making hay." This is from the revised version, if it's from any version at all.

Motorcycle Officer Ernie Sawyer, assisted by Ray Lambert, is just closing a two week vacation, and will go to work next Monday, unassisted by Ray Lambert. The ramifications of a vacation require a technique which has a meaning all its own. One can take a two weeks' vacation and it just means that four days have to go by before the call to duty. Others extract from the freedom of responsibility a wholesome joy that rebuilds worn tissues and gives one a brighter outlook on life. Re-capitulating the varied incidents which have interpolated themselves upon Ernie during the vacation period, I am sure that he will return to duty satisfied that the supervising period of his friends for the two weeks non-liability will always be a pleasant contemplation in the book memories, thanks to his loyal friends.
